Prairie Drought Worst Since 1930s, Says PM

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker told the Commons today that drought conditions on the Prairies now are approaching the conditions of the mid-1930s.

"The problems that the Western farmer now faces are one of those that exercise the hearts of men," he said.

Mr. Diefenbaker was asked by Jack McIntosh (PC—Swift Current, Maple Creek) to report on crop conditions following his visit Wednesday to Saskatchewan and refuelling stop at Winnipeg during which he conferred with local authorities.

"Generally speaking, the situation is one of grave seriousness," he said. "Every endeavor will be made to meet the situation."

REGINA (CP)—The weather office said at noon today thunderstorms over southeastern and southern Saskatchewan may give the area a quarter-inch rainfall. The area is the hardest hit by the present drought.

He recalled that the federal government has agreed to pay half the cost of moving fodder into the Prairies and of moving cattle to summer pastures outside the drought area. But even this will not be enough, he added. "Cattle will have to be sold."

Disarmament Agency Set Up by Kennedy

The Hook Sentenced To 20 Years In Jail

NEW YORK (AP)—Francisco (The Hook) Molina, a former soldier in Fidel Castro's Cuban army, was sentenced to 20 years to life imprisonment today on a conviction of second degree murder.

A bullet fired by Molina during an exchange of gunfire by Cuban factions struck and killed Magdalena Urdaneta, 9, a Venezuelan girl who was vacationing here with her parents during Castro's visit to New York last year.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today proposed the establishment of a permanent U.S. disarmament agency. It would have sweeping powers to draw up disarmament plans, negotiate and handle enforcement of any international arms control agreement is reached.

Kennedy sent his proposal to Congress in the form of a bill to set up a "United States disarmament agency for world peace and security."

COMMONS TO SIT UNTIL LATE JULY?

OTTAWA (UPI) — Two of Parliament's leading lights were pessimistic today about chances of completing or adjourning the present session in the near future.

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker told the Commons he had "long since ceased to have any idea on how long this session will continue."

His comment followed a remark by Paul Martin (L—Essex East) suggesting that the sitting might last for at least another month.

There were indications previously that all parties had agreed to adjourn the session Saturday. That appears now, however, to have gone by the boards.

Freedom Ride Finished; Audain Due Home Today

Freedom rider Michael Audain, of Victoria, jailed in Mississippi early this month on charges of breach of peace, is scheduled to arrive at Patricia Bay Airport at 5:50 p.m. today aboard a TCA Viscount from Seattle.

He was released from the state penitentiary at Parchman Wednesday after posting a cash bond.

Audain was arrested in Jackson, Miss., June 7; fined $200, and sentenced to four months' jail with two of the four months suspended.

WIRE BRIEFS

Congo Summit Urged

ELISA BETHVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Katanga President Moise Tshombe said tonight he will send a delegation to the Leopoldville parliament only if the other Congo leaders meet him first in a summit meeting.

Deadly Ship Fire

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—A cargo of highly-explosive naphthalene caught fire in the forward holds of the Polish freighter Polonica today. All civilians living and working in the area were ordered to leave and the ship was towed into the Delaware River and anchored there while fireboats fought the flames.

Floods Ravage Japan

TOKYO (AP)—Torrential rains, floods and landslides ravaged Japan for the fifth consecutive day today and the official toll jumped to 213 dead and 182 missing.

Man's Body Found

MONTREAL (CP)—Provincial police today were attempting to identify a man whose naked body was found with the head bashed in on a seldom-used side road 70 miles northwest of here.

3 Boys Dies In Fire

FORT FRANCIS, Ont. (CP)—Three small Fort Frances boys were found dead in a vacant house late Wednesday by firemen who were called to put out a blaze. Dead were Frank Horvath, 5, his brother, John, 4, and Billy Klymko, 5.

Bomb Expert Hurt

MONTREAL (UPI)—Police bomb squad sergeant Leo Plouffe was injured early today when he defused a time bomb attached to the front door of a house occupied by Leo Scanzano, brother of a night club owner.

BEGGED FOR BOND

Mr. Audain said he "practically turned the place upside down" to get Michael out after he was contacted by John Gager, another freedom rider, and the penitentiary superintendent. Gager, who had also been jailed at Parchman, telephoned from New Haven, Conn., and "begged me to see that bond was put up to get Michael released," Mr. Audain said. The penitentiary superintendent.

School Out: 27,000 'At Liberty'

School's out today for more than 27,000 pupils in southern Vancouver Island and it will never be the same again for them.

Instruction formally ended at 3 p.m.

When it resumes Sept. 5, the youngsters will be going back to longer hours and more days in a tougher system.

Next school year will be two days longer and the teaching day will be 15 minutes longer.

Other changes that will be introduced gradually as a result of the Chant Commission on Education will see basic courses enriched, new textbooks and a new emphasis on intellectual development of the students.

Meantime, the pupils will enjoy their summer vacation—except for most mothers and some students who will be going to summer school.

Greater Victoria district's summer timetable calls for: July 7—Registration for summer classes at Oak Bay Junior High;

July 10—Summer classes begin;

Aug. 4—Summer classes end;

Aug. 21—Supplemental examinations by the department of education begin.

Bomb Breaks Farmer Truce

PARIS (Reuters)—A bomb badly damaged the home of Agricultural Minister Henri Rochereau today despite a truce declared by farm leaders preparatory to talks with Premier Michel Debre aimed at ending the three-week long "peasants' revolt."

The explosion, outside the house, came as farm leaders and government officials, including Debre and Rochereau, prepared for their meeting today.

KING TUT'S REVENGE ON DIGGERS?

'Curse of Pharaohs' Brings Death Again

LONDON (AP)—Another member of the British family said to be marked by the legendary curse of the pharaohs has died an unexpected death, the fourth in the family since 1929.

The death of Lord Westbury was announced today. He died four days ago in Geneva at the age of 46. The cause of death was not given.

His father, Capt. Richard Bethell, also died suddenly and at the same age.

Bethell had a hand in excavating the tomb of the pharaoh Tutankhamen in 1923. A curse on a tomb relic said, "Death shall come on swift wings to him that toucheth the tomb of the pharaohs."

Bethell died six years later. The next year his father, who kept relics from the tomb in his home, committed suicide. Bethell's widow killed herself five years ago.

Lord Westbury is survived by a brother and a sister.

COYNE AFFAIR

Fleming Rejected Pay Boost

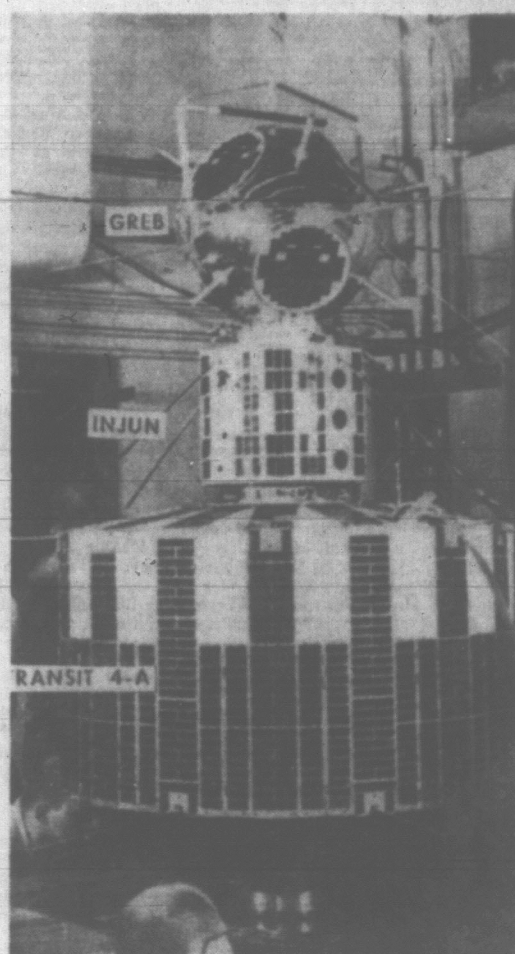

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Fleming rejected a pay increase for Governor James E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada when it was proposed Feb. 15, 1960, a source close to the minister said today.

The informant confirmed a statement in a letter by former bank director J. T. Bryden of Toronto, made public in Toronto Wednesday night, that only the question of salaries was discussed in a phone conversation that day between Mr. Fleming and a committee of the board.

It was reported that the board's proposal was for an increase in the salary ceiling to $75,000, with an immediate increase in Mr. Coyne's pay to $60,000.

Mr. Fleming has said one of the government's reasons for having sought the governor's resignation last month was that Mr. Coyne had not told the government of the action by the central bank directors increasing the governor's pension to $25,000 from $12,000.

In an open letter to Mr. Fleming on Monday, Mr. Coyne said Mr. Bryden had told the minister about a possible change in the provisions for the special pension six months before the increase was made.

Atomic Battery Aloft In Space 'Triple Play'

NEW SPACEMAN GETS CHANCE IN MID-JULY

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said today it tentatively plans to launch another astronaut on a downrange suborbital flight from Cape Canaveral the week of July 16.

This will be the second in the series—started May 5 with Alan Shepard's successful ride—leading up to an orbital flight later this year or early next year.

The name of the astronaut for the next project mercury ride has not yet been released. It is expected to be Marine Col. John Glenn, Shepard's "backup" on the May 5 flight.

ILO Expels S. Africa

GENEVA (CP) — The International Labor Organization expelled the Union of South Africa today because of its racial policy of apartheid.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States has hurled its first atomic battery into space as part of a spectacular aerial triple play in which one rocket placed three satellites in orbit around the earth.

The Russians never have announced using a nuclear device in their satellites. Without Russian word, today's success would appear to give American scientists a significant lead over Russia in the race to harness atomic power for space exploration.

A Thor-Able-Star rocket blasted off from Cape Canaveral late Wednesday night with the satellites stacked in its nose as a three-scoop ice-cream cone.

Both stages of the 50-ton rocket clicked with drill-like precision and flung the entire package into orbit. Almost immediately, spring devices kicked the payloads apart and they continued to circle the globe on separate paths nearly 600 miles above the earth.

Officials reported early today that the atomic battery was functioning and that clear signals were being transmitted by all three packages.

This was the first time the triple payload technique was attempted. It raised to 43 the number of U.S. satellites placed in orbit since the first went aloft 11 months ago. Another Thor-Able-Star pushed two satellites up a year ago.

To Provide All-Weather Navigation

The four and one-half-pound nuclear unit was attached to the base of the largest satellite. This is transit 4-A, 175-pound forerunner of the navy's satellite system designed to provide ships, planes and submarines with accurate, all-weather navigation.

The other satellites were: A 55-pound sphere nicknamed Greb which carried two detectors to measure X-ray radiation from the sun. The naval research laboratory said it is studying the effect of solar radiation in the ionosphere, a series of electrically-charged layers in space which bounce radio signals back to earth and thus are important to communications.

Injun, a 40-pound drum-shaped parcel to measure intense radiation in the Van Allen radiation belts and to report on auroral phenomena such as the Northern Lights. The instruments were devised by Dr. James Van Allen of the University of Iowa whose gauges on early U.S. satellites discovered the great bands of radiation.

In hospital are Charles Willson, 20; Linda, 14, and Wesley, 16.

Three Killed In House Fire

WINNIPEG (UPI) — Two children and their 22-year-old sister were killed early today when fire destroyed their two-story frame home.

The dead were identified as Clara Willson, 22; Doris Willson, 10, and Douglas Willson, 6.

In hospital are Charles Willson, 20; Linda, 14, and Wesley, 16.

First Clashes Reported

TEHRAN, Iran (Reuters) — British warships were reported heading for Kuwait today amid clashes in the oil-rich sheikdom and the adjoining Persian Gulf.

Reports from Kuwait said two British frigates are expected to arrive Friday to guard the oil refinery at Ahmadi after an abortive plot by Iraqis to sabotage it.

The British aircraft carrier HMS Bulwark was steaming toward the Persian Gulf with 600 Royal Marine commandos. Three other warships are on the move in the Far East.

The reports said Saudi Arabian troops arrived in Kuwait today and are patrolling the border with Iraq. More troops are expected to arrive from Jordan.

Meanwhile, Iraqi patrol boats were reported to have fired on Iranian motor launches taking food to Kuwait.

Other reports received in Tehran said a number of persons were severely injured when Kuwait and Iraqi merchants clashed in the market place in Kuwait's capital Wednesday.

TROOPS ON BORDER

The authoritative Cairo newspaper Al Ahran reported today that Iraqi forces moved Wednesday to the borders of Kuwait, to which Iraqi Prime Minister Abdul Karim Kassem laid claim Sunday.

Quoting United Arab Republic official circles, the newspaper said two Iraqi brigades, fully armed and equipped, moved to the border of the oil-rich Persian Gulf sheikdom.

Iraq hinted Wednesday at an expansion of Premier Kassem's bid for annexation of Kuwait to all the oil-bearing regions on the Persian Gulf's west coast.

Radio Baghdad hoisted a trial balloon in the Middle East storm by declaring the Iraqi people are cabling congratulations to Kassem on the move to "liberate Kuwait" and urging him to "save all the other rings in the chain of the Persian Gulf territories and return them to the Iraqi motherland."

These include Qatif and Ahassa, concession areas of the U.S.-owned Arabian-American Oil Company, and the British-protected sheikdoms of Qatar, Bahrain and Abu Dhabi.

The Baghdad government appeared unabashed by the vehement stand of such powers as Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Republic against the claim to Kuwait and backing of the sheikdom's sovereignty by Britain and the United States.

East-West Compromise Over Laos

GENEVA (UPI)—East and West moved toward compromise today on sending some equipment to the International Control Commission (ICC) for policing the shaky cease-fire in Laos.

British and Soviet co-chairmen of the 14-nation Laos peace conference met with representatives of the three-member ICC.

A British delegation spokesman said afterward the two-hour meeting found "sufficient common ground." But no final agreement was worked out on how many helicopters, light aircraft and ground transport vehicles would be supplied.

ABE CENSORED BY RIVAL AUTO FIRM

Lincoln a Naughty Word

NEW YORK (AP)—A television producer says the name of Abraham Lincoln was deleted from a TV drama because Lincoln also is the name of an automobile made by a competitor of the program's sponsor.

The producer, Ralph Nelson, testified Wednesday at a Federal Communications Commission hearing to determine if government control of TV programming is needed.

Nelson testified that the deletion of Lincoln's name occurred when he was producing a dramatization of The Andersonville Trial for the Climax series over the Columbia Broadcasting System network.

When the telecast first was proposed, Nelson said, an executive for the advertising company, representing Chrysler, told him the sponsor was "very fearful of the program going through."

"We were asked never to refer to the president of the United States' name," Nelson said, "since it was the name of a rival car—so we did not."

HOUSEWIVES UPSET QUEEN'S SLUM VISIT

GLASGOW (Reuters) — Official plans for the Queen to inspect "typical slums" here Friday were upset by housewives who began sprucing up their homes and whitewashing the walls today.

A Glasgow municipal official said: "We were so anxious to show the Queen a typical home in its normal state, but the trouble is we had to give the people some warning, and now of course they are laying on the whitewash."

tendent wrote Mr. Audain as follows:

"One of our councillors interviewed your son this morning and his attitude has changed considerably. He is very anxious to get out of here and told me to ask you to get Jack Young, the negro lawyer in Mississippi who has handled all the cases."

INDOCTRINATED

"Your son has gotten in with the wrong kind and has been indoctrinated with ideas foreign to your kind of people. He is in good health; is very much anxious to get out, and he seems to believe that what he has done was wrong for him."

"May I add again that his attitude has changed greatly from what it was when he came here."

Mr. Audain added the letter expressed the opinions of the superintendent only and his son might not necessarily agree with it.

SOLICITOR WHITE

"I put the bond up myself," he said.

He said he hired a white solicitor to do the work.

"If I had gone to the Negro solicitor, he would have used my son to further the cause."

"While I think, in the end, this segregation business will change, I believe—like Attorney-General Robert Kennedy—that it is a matter for the courts."

"Michael is an idealist," he said.

The UBC student was in San Francisco when he heard of the freedom riders' activities and decided to join them. His father was on a six-week trip to Europe.

After his release from prison

Wednesday he is reported to have said he posted bond "because of pressure from my parents."

"I had planned to bail myself out eventually, and I have to go see about my exams," the report quoted him.

He is also reported to have said the riders were not treated particularly well.

"We had no privileges. Prison officials took our mattresses because we started singing and we had to sleep on hard steel bunks. This happened Saturday night and the mattresses were restored Tuesday night."

"They threatened further reprisals if we continued to sing."

Michael is on his way home via Chicago and Seattle.

Retail Merchants Plan to Fight Unethical Sales

Recommendations for an attack on unethical sales practices in Greater Victoria will be made by a committee of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce retail merchants' group headed by Hugh Francis, it was decided at a meeting of the group this morning in the Dominion Hotel.

The committee will work with the four area licensing inspectors on a program to help protect residents from unscrupulous peddlars and door-to-door salesmen.

The meeting unanimously elected Cliff Rutledge as chairman of the group for the coming season to succeed Bob Thompson. Mr. Rutledge was vice-chairman last year and the meeting also elected Bernie Rogers to that position.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Seven Years in Jail For Child Killer

(Compiled From CP)

NEW WESTMINSTER — Henry Murphy, 34, who fatally beat his 17-month-old son because he disturbed a television program, Wednesday was sentenced to seven years.

Murphy was found guilty of a reduced charge of manslaughter June 22 after a four-day trial. He had been originally jointly charged with murder with Josephine Joe, the woman with whom he lived and mother of the son, Daniel.

The Crown entered a stay of proceedings against Mrs. Joe and she was the chief Crown witness against Murphy.

She testified to a weekend of drinking at beer parlors and at their home at the Cheam Indian Reserve, 30 miles east of here.

She said when the child's crying prevented Murphy from hearing a baseball game on television he dropped him on the floor, kicked him across the room and ran water on him from an outside pump.

Murphy found the child dead in his crib April 30.

ATTACKS MALL

PRINCE GEORGE — Alderman Harry Loder Wednesday protested proposed expenditure by the city industrial development commission on a survey to determine feasibility of closing off a downtown street and turning it into a shopping mall. Alderman Loder said the commission is overstepping its authority in embarking on town planning.

WATER LOST

TRAIL — One million gallons of water escaped from the Sunningdale reservoir early Wednesday and created a serious shortage in the east side residential and commercial areas of Trail.

BOMB THREAT

RICHMOND — More than 9,000 children were cleared from 29 schools in this Vancouver suburb after the school board maintenance office received a bomb threat.

Four hours later a mystery explosion shook windows in homes near Alfred B. Dixon Elementary School.

RCMP said they could find no cause for the blast and decided it was not connected with the bomb threat made at about 1.55 p.m.

HOSPITAL THREATENED

VANCOUVER — The city has threatened to cut off its financial contribution to the operation of the Vancouver General Hospital out-patient department unless the provincial government takes a larger share of the burden. Cost of the department, only such service in the province, at present is shared 50-50 between city and province.

CENSUS CHARGE

VANCOUVER — Television commentator Roy Jacques appeared in police court Wednesday charged with failing to answer census questions and was remanded to July 6 for trial.

MORE CHERRIES

PENTICTON — The Department of Agriculture has estimated the Pentiction area cherry crop this year will exceed that of 1960.

The 1961 total has been estimated at 550,000 pounds, compared with 409,444 in 1960.

The Okanagan crop will also be up — 5,911,000 pounds, against 4,936,000 last year.

The peach crop was expected to exceed last year's total of 29,331,070 pounds by some 50,000 pounds.

Apricot, plum and prune totals will be down.

TRAPPED ON TRESTLE

SURREY — A hike on a mile-long railroad trestle near Crescent Beach almost ended in tragedy for two Surrey youngsters when they were trapped by a Great Northern passenger train.

Mavina Smith, 14, and her brother Michael, 13, clung desperately to a plank on the side of the 50-foot-high trestle as the train passed by and ground to a stop.

Council Stand Endorsed

The retail merchants group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce this morning endorsed the city council public works committee compromise solution on parking and agreed to form a committee to work with council on the problem.

Although several members of the group expressed concern over the five-year term suggested for lease of two downtown parking areas, the group agreed with chairman Bob Thompson that the plan was one which merchants could and should back.

Mr. Thompson told the group bluntly that while downtown parking problems had been batted back and forth for many years, it was "not all city council's fault; we have been as much to blame as they."

LOT OF MERIT

Ernie Peden, chairman of the Downtown Merchants' Association, said he believed there was a lot of merit to the city plan.

"It represents a lot of work, and there have been many frustrations," he said, "but there is now something concrete, something definite to work on."

Former alderman Elmer McEwen presented an alternative plan to the group involving raising the business tax to provide funds for building small, free parking facilities throughout the downtown area, but there was little interest expressed in the idea.

Mr. McEwen claimed that the downtown problem was not going to be settled by council because, he said, "influential people whose financial interests are outside the downtown area will beat any council plan."

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Paul K. Sunde, 1339 Stanley, $150 and licence suspension, failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Frederick William Empey, HMCS Fraser, $100, driving under suspension.

Carl W. Hemeon, 2586 Vista Bay, $25, following too close.

Winfield Scott Hamilton, 2140 Cadboro Bay Road, $7.50, failing to obey left turn only signal.

RUSH-HOUR CHANGES, LEASING LOTS SUGGESTED

Two-Way Attack Starts On Parking Problem

City public works committee Wednesday touched off a desperate "action stations" alarm on downtown parking.

Committee recommended a two-pronged attack on the newly-opened Town and Country shopping centre by:

1. Reducing downtown parking bans by a half hour during the traffic rush in order to siphon off some shoppers and, if necessary, block the roads towards the suburb;

2. Immediate leasing of two off-street parking sites followed by a quick vote of merchants to decide whether they will be developed into surface lots and eventually multi-storey garages.

DRIVE LEADER

Chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow led the drive for both recommendations.

After losing an effort to obtain tow truck removal of parked cars so that the present 4.30 to 5.30 p.m. parking ban could be cut down to 30 minutes, he said:

"It concerns me that we are providing fast lanes for people to get out of the city, past our merchants, so they shop in comfort at outside centres."

"We should make it easy for them to stop and shop in the city."

Traffic engineer Norman Worsley maintained actual traffic counts showed the parking ban period was not too long.

Despite his warnings that a reduction would increase rush-hour congestion on downtown streets, the committee recommended the parking ban start at 4.30 instead of 4 p.m. to provide 150 more parking spaces during the extra time.

Committee members also recommended that the city take out a five-year lease—the legal maximum—with option to buy two properties controlled by Dominion Construction, Ltd. It is the same company which developed the Town and Country centre and now wants to put up two civic parking garages on a lease purchase basis.

SOUTH SIDE

The properties are located on the south side of View, between Douglas and Blanshard, and on the east side of Langley between Fort and Bastion.

Also recommended is a local area vote of merchants to determine whether they would guarantee the cost of razing the leased sites and developing surface lots until demand made it worthwhile to buy the properties and erect parking garages.

City Engineer J. C. Garnett said if the city obtained special legislation this spring to permit commitment of future revenue accruing to a parking meter fund, the garages could be built "within four months."

But Ald. J. L. W. McLean said the city should not rush into developing parking garages so long as there was a chance that private enterprise would do so.

Ald. Edgelow agreed and insisted "we are only concerned with tying up the sites for the present and establishing surface lots until we see the demand."

"This is as far and as fast as we can legally go at the present time and the important thing is to get the ball rolling now."

'No Need to Raise Bread Price'—Fleming

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA — Finance Minister Fleming said Wednesday there is no justification for the claims of some bakers that they will have to increase the price of bread to cover a five-cent-a-bushel increase in wheat prices.

Mr. Fleming said in the Commons budget debate that five cents a bushel was equivalent to one-eighth or one-ninth of a cent on a 24-ounce loaf of bread.

He said the baking industry should be able to absorb this increase—an outgrowth of the budget—without putting up prices.

Mr. Fleming spoke just before the Commons defeated by a vote of 139 to 40 a Liberal motion of non-confidence in the government. The Progressive Conservatives snowed under the Liberals and CCF.

The motion said Mr. Fleming's budget restricts trade and is inadequate to expand production and jobs needed to ensure the growth of the economy "despite the burdens imposed by a fifth consecutive deficit of a record size."

Mr. Fleming said the reception of his budget across Canada has been "unusually favorable and gratifying."

Financial Markets Now Stronger

The financial markets were stronger than before presentation of the budget June 20 and interest yields were reduced.

The minister maintained the estimated $650,000,000 deficit in 1961-62 is due to the larger payments to the provinces under the expiring federal-provincial tax-sharing arrangements.

The Liberals were trying to make Canadians think the country was in for a horrible mess of inflation. The government had no thought of "turning on the printing presses".

Net per-capita debt in Canada had declined since 1959.

Frank Howard (CCF—Skeena) said that if last December's budget was known as a baby budget, the current one should be called a miscarriage.

Works Minister Walker said the budget is designed to increase employment by "hundreds of thousands."

Senate Reform 'Even More Urgent'

Senate reform is more urgent than ever, Mr. Howard said. He accused Senator Arthur Roebuck of treating other members of the upper chamber's divorce committee with "disdain and contempt."

It was not too long ago that Prime Minister Diefenbaker was campaigning on Senate reform, Mr. Howard said in the Commons during the budget debate.

The need was even more urgent "in view of recent developments which have been taking place in the Senate."

He mentioned Senator Roebuck (L—Ontario), chairman of the Senate divorce committee, as a case in point.

"I think the disdain and contempt with which Senator Roebuck treats other members of the Senate divorce committee would indicate that some reformation is necessary."

"If that honorable senator seeks to develop his pet hobby to the point where he establishes himself as in effect a judge of divorce in the other place, that would indicate that we need even more movement in the direction of some reformation there..."

What About Seal If A-Bombs Come?

There won't be time to run around Ottawa looking for someone to put the Great Seal of Canada on a vice-regal proclamation if Canada comes under sudden nuclear attack, a Commons committee was warned.

R. B. Bryce, clerk of the Privy Council and secretary to the cabinet, said Parliament should pass an act conferring extraordinary powers on the government to put emergency measures into effect automatically and instantaneously should a nuclear bomb be dropped on Canada.

At present, emergency powers could only be brought into force by a formal proclamation of the War Measures Act. And when Parliament is sitting as it now is—the proclamation must be tabled. The act is then open under the Bill of Rights for annulment proceedings.

Mr. Bryce said that if nuclear war comes, it is likely to come suddenly and be total in its effect. There would be no time to have a proclamation passed and stamped with the Great Seal before the cabinet would have to act.

"We now must make preparations on the expectation that war will be in Canada. We must anticipate that North America would be a main target."

Income Tax Case

OTTAWA (CP)—An Ottawa machinery and mill supply firm and two of its directors were charged Wednesday on 23 counts of income tax evasion, some dating back to the Second World War. Federal inspectors laid 10 charges against M. Zaggerman and Company Limited, 10 against Morris Zaggerman and three against Norman Zaggerman. They allege failure to report sales of $140,637 in the 1944-46 period and unspecified amounts for "false and deceptive statements" between 1951 and 1954. The case was remanded until July 26.

ON BERLIN

JFK Studies All Angles

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy meets with the National Security Council today to discuss possible military, diplomatic and civilian defence measures which he may take to deal with the growing crisis between Russia and the Western powers over Berlin.

The range and actions under study within the U.S. government is reported to include partial mobilization, increasing NATO strength in Europe, a new round of East-West negotiations on Berlin and a stepped-up civilian defence program.

The National Security Council, embracing the president's senior military and diplomatic advisers, "was summoned to meet at the White House this afternoon. Kennedy announced Wednesday that proposals for dealing with the Berlin situation will be discussed."

TWO-PRONGED ACTION

Highly placed officials indicate that Kennedy, State Secretary Dean Rusk and other administration leaders are thinking of acting on two fronts as the Berlin crisis develops during the next few months:

1. Military—They intend to take steps that would get the United States and its allies ready for a Berlin showdown if Soviet Premier Khrushchev presses his Berlin demands to that point. At the same time they hope the steps will impress upon Khrushchev the determination of the United States to back up its commitments to protect West Berlin against Communist pressures.

2. Diplomatic—They seriously are considering proposing a new round of East-West negotiations on Berlin within the framework of the overall problem of divided Germany. Such a proposal if finally decided on, probably will be made in the next few weeks.

German Army Grows

BONN (Reuters)—West German armed forces will reach a total strength of 311,000 men when 36,000 draftees are called up next week, the defence ministry announced Wednesday. NATO plans call for 350,000 West Germans under arms in 1963.

PRE-PAID DRUG PLAN DESCRIBED

TORONTO (CP)—Details of a pre-paid prescription plan, which will cost the equivalent of half a pack of cigarettes a day, were revealed Wednesday to the Ontario legislature's select committee on drug costs.

William A. Wilkinson, president of the Ontario Retail Pharmacists' Association and of Prescription Services Incorporated, said the Green Shield Prescription Plan was established in Windsor to assist people to pre-pay the cost of prescribed pharmaceuticals.

Cost of enrolment in the plan ranges from $1.90 a month for a single person to a maximum of $5.75 a month for a family. In other words the cost of minimum coverage is six cents a day. Maximum cost is 19 cents a day—or about the same as a good cigar or half a pack of cigarettes.

The Big Gamble

WHY HAS THE B.C. ELECTRIC suddenly increased its investment in the Peace River power scheme of the Wenner-Gren promoters? Obviously because it has been persuaded, or compelled, to do so by the provincial government.

However this extraordinary decision is explained by the B.C. Electric or the government, one fact should be clear from the start: If the B.C. Electric loses money in the Peace River promotion it has no right to charge its losses to the consumers of electricity.

Mr. Strachan, the CCF leader, already has seen that danger. In a letter to The Times, he says that "any losses taken by the B.C. Electric in such a situation would be regained by the company via the electricity bills paid by the consumer. In short, Wenner-Gren and B.C. Electric can't lose because the customer will foot the bill."

In saying that, Mr. Strachan takes a very cynical view of the government, the B.C. Electric and the Public Utility Commission which fixes power rates.

If Mr. Strachan is right in believing that the government and the B.C. Electric are careless of the consumer's interests, we would hope that the Power Commission is not. It is bound, in fixing electrical rates, to consider the legitimate costs of the B.C. Electric. It certainly is not bound to protect the B.C. Electric shareholders from any losses that they may incur from a gamble in partnership with Mr. Wenner-Gren. And the B.C. Electric should be warned of that fact in advance.

But the B.C. Electric's heavy investment in the Peace River scheme—probably against its own will and better judgment—is only part of a much larger mystery.

Mr. Bennett has already threatened to take over the B.C. Electric and it is said that he intends to take over the Wenner-Gren promotion as well. This intention has not been confirmed or denied by Mr. Bennett. His silence before a special session of the legislature must raise many anxious questions.

First, will he deny that the Peace River cannot be dammed and harnessed economically unless its electricity is exported, in part at least, to the United States?

Second, if this be true, what reason has he to assume that the federal government will permit exports from the Peace River when it has refused to permit them from other Canadian rivers?

Third, even supposing that the federal government reverses its historic policy of more than forty years and allows exports, what assurance is there that the American northwest states will buy this Canadian power when, at the moment, they have a surplus in Washington?

Fourth, if those difficulties are overcome, does Mr. Bennett seriously think that any federal government in its senses would approve his plan to alienate the cheap downstream power of the Columbia while compelling British Columbia consumers to buy more expensive Peace River power? If he thinks that, he is insulting the federal government's intelligence.

Fifth, if Mr. Bennett nationalizes the B.C. Electric and the Peace River scheme, are the Columbia and its cheap power potential to be abandoned altogether? Is that why Mr. Bennett has effectively stalled the Columbia treaty in Parliament by demanding impossible terms that no federal government could accept?

Sixth, if Mr. Bennett proposes a vast plan of publicly-owned power, including the Peace River, how is it to be financed?

Until a few months ago Mr. Bennett thought that his government could not possibly afford to expropriate the B.C. Electric alone and rejected such a policy as unthinkable when it was urged by the CCF. Now he has changed his mind and apparently favors it.

If the B.C. Electric, a sound, profitable company, can be nationalized and continue to pay its way, what about the Peace River scheme? Without the right to export, or even with that right, its costs, in the form of power rates, could be a heavy burden on the consumers when they have the chance to get cheaper electricity from the Columbia.

All these questions are raised by Mr. Bennett's confusing utterances, but they are not answered. Isn't it time that he took the public into his confidence—the public which must in the end pay for all his policies?

Hitting the Camp Limpet

WHEN THE PROVINCIAL government embarked on its expanded public campsite program, it held the view that more such accommodation was required for a growing British Columbia population seized with the desire for greater outdoor recreation facilities.

The department concerned developed the sites. The public quickly took advantage of the development and camping areas were frequently crowded.

Certain areas are kept filled by people who set up camp for prolonged periods. Other campers, seeking spots to set up their tents at night, find all locations occupied. In too many cases, the government believes, occupants are pre-empting sites for too long and denying short-term campers facilities they may reasonably expect.

Hence the government has decided to impose a $2 a day penalty, effective July 1, on campers occupying campsites at Cultus, Shuswap, Okanagan and Miracle Beach areas for more than two days. By making the charge, the government believes, campers will be encouraged to move on after short stays.

There is obvious justification in a measure to make the public campsites available to more campers. No one should establish a monopoly on the ground at the expense of someone else.

This should not be construed by the public, or the government, as the start of a system which will eventually establish a uniform camping fee on all sites throughout the province. British Columbia would be acting against its own interests if it placed all campsites on a rental basis.

The fact is that the people of this province have already paid for the development of various grounds. They should not be charged again for what they have already financed. And since the camps are admittedly one of the most impressive attractions British Columbia has to offer tourists, their provision without charge should be considered a legitimate and valuable service to attract visitors.

There are a number of impressive arguments against "pay" camps on public sites. The individual who is charged a fee tends to make more demands for his money—hot showers and the like. And since he is paying, he is inclined to show less responsibility for the preservation of the camp and its upkeep.

The government will probably find general support for its decision to penalize the "camp hog"—the person who deprives others of camping privileges by staying too long in residence at one point. Whether or not three days in a single location is too long is a matter of opinion. But at all events, the charge should be considered a penalty, not a fee for use of the ground.

Private interests, prepared to provide more services, should be allowed that field without commercial competition from the province.

Cynical Discourtesy

WHATEVER PURPOSE MR. Bennett seeks to serve by calling a session of the legislature for August 1, thereby making it impossible for CCF members to attend the founding convention of the New Party, his action will be generally seen as a gross discourtesy.

There is no apparent reason requiring the legislature to meet on that particular date. The business to be transacted surely could be carried out a few days earlier or a few days later without injury or inconvenience to anyone.

Provincial CCF members of the legislature have made their desire to attend the New Party convention abundantly clear and have asked for consideration from the premier. Ordinary political courtesy would require him to grant their request.

If Mr. Bennett remains adamant in his stand, refuses to alter the date, and deprives members of the opposition of the opportunity to attend the convention, his action will be viewed only as an incredible and cynical gesture to hurt the New Party and its supporters. Is this to be the impression created by a man who talks so frequently and glowingly of democratic principles?

'What Do You Want To Be If You Grow Up?'

FROM WASHINGTON

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Peering Into the Inferno

THE policy-planning for the Berlin crisis continues to be the all but exclusive preoccupation of the highest level of the U.S. government. It is a slow business, precisely because everything hinges upon the answer to a question the like of which no leaders of any government in history have ever had to answer before.

For this reason, in turn, it is high time to stop being mealy-mouthed about this dark but central question. No one has debated it. No one has even mentioned it in a forthright way in any public discussion. But it dominates the private discussion of the Berlin problem by the president and his policy-makers; and the national future probably hangs upon the answer.

Is the United States prepared to risk a thermonuclear war in order to discharge its sacred obligations at Berlin? This is the question that has to be answered, fairly and squarely, before intelligible, clear-minded decisions can be taken about the right way to meet the threat to Berlin.

This is the question that has to be answered, fairly and squarely, before intelligible, clear-minded decisions can be taken about the right way to meet the threat to Berlin.

Military Margin

The question would not have arisen if measures had been taken, in the years of the locust, to maintain this country's former commanding margin of military power. There would be no threat to Berlin, one may be sure, if the balance of power in the world today were anything like the balance of power that existed in 1953.

But the measures to maintain the old margin of the U.S. power were considered to be too costly, although democracies badly need some margin in dealing with totalitarian empires.

Thus the question has arisen. In this last month, moreover, since Nikita S. Khrushchev has taken a position from which he cannot easily retreat, it has become a sternly insistent question.

The chances are 5-to-1, 6-to-1, 10-to-1—that you will—that Khrushchev will do everything needful to avoid a thermonuclear war if he can only be convinced that there is real danger of one. But one cannot forget the off-chance that Khrushchev's arrogance will prove impervious, because of grossly over-optimistic military calculations or for some other reason.

No Precedent

Thus the question cannot be dodged or ducked. Yet no real precedent exists to give historic guidance about the best answer.

To be sure, cities and nations and peoples have sometimes in history fought to the last man. How often this has happened is easily forgotten in this rather flaccidly comfortable age. Any one who wishes to be reminded only needs to read such records as the historian Josephus's account of the siege and destruction of Jerusalem by the Emperor Titus.

Yet two things set the present question apart from the question that was so firmly answered by the iron-willed Jewish zealots who manned the walls of their Holy City with such fearful and unyielding courage.

First of all, the defenders of Jerusalem had consciously made their choice, whereas today the United States is thinking about everything on earth except the choice that has to be made. And secondly, the scale of the choice is different.

If the Berlin crisis results in a thermonuclear exchange, the peoples of the U.S. and the U.S.S.R. will by no means die to the last man. But a great many millions will quite certainly die, whereas the bloody toll of the fall of Jerusalem was still counted only in tens of thousands.

Long Look

He who makes this choice, and President Kennedy above all, must first peer long and hard into the inferno. That is the sum of the matter.

It is downright frivolous to demand a quick and easy answer from men who must peer into the inferno first. But it is also frivolous, and even shameful, to pretend that the dreadful risk inherent in one kind of answer makes the risks in the other kind of answer any less dreadful.

The answer that we shall stand up and be counted for Berlin involves a certain risk—probably rather a small risk—of a thermonuclear exchange. But the answer that this risk is too awful, and that we shall not stand up and be counted, involves a very much greater though longer term and quite different risk.

It involves, in fact, an actual probability of a general Western decline which will continue from crisis to crisis, until the final stage of Soviet world domination.

Not Ready?

Suppose we are not ready to stand up and be counted for Berlin, where our commitment is so deep, so morally compelling, and so politically crucial. Why then should we stand up and be counted for any other Western position overseas, or for any of our allies, or for Staten Island or Alaska or the state of Washington, for that matter?

That is the other half of the central question, which must also be weighed. And when it is weighed, the fact must be remembered that each failure to stand up and be counted will lead to a new and bolder challenge, in worse circumstances, at a new point still nearer home.

In sum, this is a moral-philosophical question of the deep and final sort that controls the course of history.

Agricultural House on Fire

FIFTEEN months after the forcible collectivization of East German agriculture, the East Germany Party and government declared last week that "our agricultural house is on fire."

The declaration is made in a sensational proclamation, by the central committee of the party, the government and the so-called "national front" of all parties. It states that agricultural tasks have not been completed on time this year, and that extraordinary measures have become necessary.

Entire village populations are to be mobilized by local party and state officials and set to work in the fields, together with the collectivized farmers and agricultural laborers and their wives. All working agreements are to be suspended for the duration of the emergency. Work will begin at dawn and continue until sunset.

It is in this context that the proclamation states dramatically: "When the house is on fire, fire-fighting cannot be done by the clock, and our agricultural house is now on fire."

The emergency is officially ascribed to the wet, cold weather of the last few weeks, but this can hardly be held responsible for the neglect of sowing, which is normally terminated long before. Indeed, the long proclamation implies sabotage or, at least, passive resistance.

Farmers Threatened

Thus, it says that seeds must be fully used, fields must not remain unweeded, etc.—and the neglect of these things cannot be explained by recent weather conditions. It also gives the game away in a "paragraph" which threatens the farmers in a manner that would make no sense if they were merely victims of the weather.

"Farmers must know that their incomes depend exclusively on their production. High production means a high income. Low production from agriculture means fewer industrial goods for the villages, because they have to be exported to pay for food imports."

The proclamation underlines a complaint of the acting prime minister, Herr Willi Stoph recently, that "wide areas" had remained unsown this spring.

The admission of an agricultural crisis coincides with widespread complaints of insufficient food supplies. It would be wrong as yet to speak of a full-fledged crisis in this respect. The summer months before the new harvest have always been an anxious time for food supplies in East Germany, as the over-strained economy leaves no margin for food imports in an agriculturally bad year.

Food rationing was abolished as late as 1958, and only 1958 and 1959 could be regarded as normal, shortage-free years from the ordinary consumer's point of view. Last year, complaints about local food shortages became widespread in July and August, and this year the complaints are even louder, and began as early as late May and early June.

Odd Illustration

An odd illustration is provided by the case of the Henningsdorf steel workers, 56 of whom recently sent a petition to Herr Walter Ulbricht, complaining bitterly of the worsening food supplies (especially the virtual reintroduction of local butter rationing) and demanding action.

The news of this petition was originally published by a small West Berlin news agency specializing in news from East Germany which is regarded as less than absolutely reliable.

It was then confirmed in an unexpected manner by Neues Deutschland, the Communist Party organ, which said that the petition had been drafted and circulated among the Henningsdorf workers by West German agents, but admitted that it had actually been signed and sent, and went on to say that the workers had complained not only of a butter shortage but of bread shortage as well, which Neues Deutschland again did not deny, but ascribed to a lack of baking facilities. The bakers had now been "convinced" that by using all productive facilities a sufficient local bread supply could be secured.

Rumors of local bread shortages in East Germany have turned up frequently in recent weeks. It has been difficult to believe them up to now, but after the extraordinary admission of Neues Deutschland it looks as if the food situation may be more serious than suspected.

As Our Readers See It

Dying Off

I am one of the 27 merchants north of the Roundabout affected by the off again-on-again beautification campaign for Douglas Street.

The idea of planting trees and flowers along the side of the street would have been a dandy had it been done 40 years ago, when one had time to admire them and before so many businesses became established here.

Currently I sweep about a bushel of soot off my sidewalk daily. Now if I have to combine a couple of bushels of leaves with this, its going to be quite a job and I can visualize great clouds of leaves being scattered by the ever increasing number of cars on the street.

I don't think forbidding parking on Douglas Street is necessary at this time. The giant corporations are weeding us independents out at a rate so that in a few years you won't have any small businesses to worry about.

But we would sooner be weeded out by them than by our own councils. Certainly there will not be another generation of small business men. Everyone will work for the corporations or the state. Then when we are gone the beautification plan can be put through without opposition.

I would suggest however that the trees planted be of a fruit-bearing type so that the council can harvest a crop of fruit in lieu of the taxes that we merchants are currently paying.

However, if some merchants, like Mayor Scourah of Victoria, want a tree planted in front of his store to help keep away the extra business, then I would say, by all means let him plant one—in fact he can have mine!

L. N. G. RUSK.

3214 Douglas Street.

Truth Outs—As It Were

There appears to be a great deal of confusion and mis-information re Saanich Council's action on the Douglas Street beautification project. It is claimed three Saanich councillors (a minority by the way) turned down the scheme and ruined it.

This is simply not true. The Saanich Council has never rejected beautification for Douglas Street. We have asked, though, that the details be worked out more carefully and completely rather than rushing pell-mell ahead. This, I believe, the parties concerned are now doing. I believe a satisfactory solution can be found and that the trees will be planted.

Certainly the area concerned could do with some beautification and I for one am all for it. It is also to be hoped that when Blanchard is put through careful plans will be made for a wide, tree-lined, boulevard street which will be a credit to the community.

It has been said that some are trying to make a political issue out of the project for this December election. I hope this is not so, but if it is, then I predict this issue will fail as truth finally "outs" as it were.

HAROLD TODD,
Saanich Councillor.

1402 Andrews Road.

Peeking Through the Bushings

The current controversy concerning the legislative fountain interests me, and I must confess that my sympathies are entirely with those who support the non-representational, or "abstract" point of view. It seems to me also, that Mr. Savery's critics have neglected some persuasive evidence which favors the modern approach. I refer, sir, to the novel and thoroughly admirable work which is being done by abstractionists in fields other than the artistic. Here, for instance, is an abstract from an abstract by S. Pablo Hergentebrecht, P.Eng., an outstanding figure in the world of electrical engineering. His subject is the "Turbo-Encabulator" and the following is from a 45-page treatise that has astounded the industry:

Pen Pals

We are two African boys, 16 years and 17 years, 5 ft. 4 ins. and 5 ft. 6 ins. in height, 7 st. 8 lbs and 7 st. and 6 lbs. in weight, and both students of Awe High School, Oyo. We want Canadian pen pals of female sex, of any age. We speak in English.

Columbia—Here's How

The Columbia River hydro problem has been a headache for many people, but it can be settled to the advantage of British Columbia and the U.S.A. Here's how. B.C. to build the Mica Dam at a cost of $458,000,000.

This would give the Columbia a steady flow all the year around—one of the best hydro streams in America. The U.S.A. to pay the cost of Mica Dam, with interest, in say, 40 years.

When this is done the U.S.A. to pay B.C. about $20,000,000 a year for the benefit of Mica Dam and the reservoir.

If they will not agree to this—no sale. However, I think they will agree, because the advantage of the hydro power lies in the U.S. and they should have the power for themselves.

They would be paying for the dam, and continuing to pay for its benefits.

Most of the potential power of the Columbia lies between the Grand Coulee and Bonneville Dams. The drop in the river between these two dams is about 1,000 feet and the U.S. could build two or three dams in this section, giving them 10 to 12 million horsepower.

The same water running over all the dams will give them the cheapest power they will ever have.

Conservationists by Chance

VERY few anglers in this community receive as much publicity as I do for fish they don't catch. Any duck who lands a 50-pound spring can get his picture in the paper with cutlines saying, "The figure on the right is the fish."

It takes a peculiar type of genius—or a highly improper exercise of privilege—to claim space when you go out week after week and come home skunked. I have usurped this type of privilege.

For years I've been sweetening the sour grapes of failure as a troller with syrupy pieces about the absolute joys of no-fish fishing. This is an autobiographical technique perfected many centuries ago by a chap called Julius Caesar—by his own account a very great soldier. He must have been. He said so.

In the field of communication, he is a lucky individual who can be his own press agent—lucky and pretty thick-skinned also.

Recently, however, what I have taken to be my particular preserve in the realms of publicity for no-fish fishing has been invaded by my friend Dr. Cliff Carl.

Cliff is an ichthyologist. He knows all about fish except how to catch them.

The other day the public prints carried a feature story on an interesting experiment he undertook, all, of course, in the interests of science.

He and other informed acquaintances announced plans to go fishing in the manner of the Indians and with the Indians' primitive gear. This is an interesting test. Our knowledge of the Indians should be increased by its results.

If only I could rid myself of a nasty, nagging doubt. Dr. Clifford Carl is a man of the highest integrity. I will defend his character and principles to my last breath. Why, therefore, should the thought enter my mind that Dr. Clifford Carl, strictly a no-fish fisherman, may be trying out the Indians' methods only because he can't catch anything with the white man's? Such a doubt is unworthy. But Cliff is a fisherman and in the secret recesses of his being there must be some of those small disappointments which exist in mine because I can't land a salmon.

My misgivings are no doubt groundless. Of course Cliff is interested in the scientific elements alone in this experiment. Yet it does seem a little strange that the party's efforts to fish like Indians have not, up to this point, been recorded. Maybe he hasn't got around to writing up the experiment yet.

Let it be known that the attempt to catch fish like natives failed on its first essay. Cliff's record as a conservationist has not been tarnished so far. There were just as many fish in the sea after he and his party had tried out the Indian gear as there were before they started.

"We were unsuccessful," he told me in a confidence which I now violate. "Then the wind blew up and we haven't been able to try again."

For me, this would be par. In my last four times out I haven't had a nibble, have only seen one fish and that in the boat of a young man who isn't an ichthyologist but who has a certain facility with long strip.

Nevertheless, I shall continue to follow the Carl experiment—if he'll still talk to me. When and if he begins to fish salmon, I'll switch to his borrowed technique. Why not? I've tried almost everything else.

But there is still a little skepticism in me. When I was a boy I watched an old Indian catch winter spring regularly off the south end of Rescue Bay. Each afternoon he'd pull his dugout across the mouth of the bay and, almost invariably between 2.30 and 3 o'clock, he'd hook a nice salmon in one identical spot.

I fished the same spot unsuccessfully. Through a friend who knew the old Indian, I acquired one of his special lures. It was a brass spoon about the same size and roughly the same shape as a Tom Mack No. 7, but heavier.

For several seasons I dragged that hunk of metal through the water and never once deprived the old Indian of a fish. I used to picture him chucking away to himself over the gullibility of a white boy who'd pay out a precious four-bits for a piece of rough-wrought metal of no value to the man who sold it.

Maybe the new experiment with primitive Indian gear will work. But with an unsuccessful fisherman's superstitions, I'm beginning to think the equipment's of secondary importance. It's the magic the Indians make before they start that counts—the way they spit on the spoon before dropping it in the water.

Trade Group Urged To Work Together

LONDON (Reuters)—Members of the European Free Trade Area should "co-ordinate their actions" in the event of negotiations for membership or association with the European Common Market, a communiqué said here Wednesday night.

The communiqué was issued at the end of a two-day meeting of the ministerial council of the seven-country group.

The communiqué said it was premature to judge whether negotiations were possible or likely to be successful, and decided the council would re-examine the question at its next meeting.

The council agreed there would be advantage in speeding up the timetable for dismantling tariff protection within EFTA.

The ministers represented Britain, Sweden, Denmark, Norway, Switzerland, Austria and Portugal. Finland is an associate member.

The communiqué said some EFTA countries could not accept obligations of a political nature.

'Quiet' Battle For Party Post

By The Canadian Press
Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan has hooked up with Hazen Argue in a race for national leadership of the New Party. Already there are indications it won't be a knock-down, drag-out battle.

Mr. Douglas, CCF premier since 1944, announced Wednesday he will allow his name to stand for the new post against that of Mr. Argue, 40-year-old national head of the CCF party. But Mr. Douglas said he will not campaign for the job.

In Vancouver, Mr. Argue declared: "I will campaign no more nor less than I now do and my plans will not be affected by Mr. Douglas' decision."

The party, formed by the CCF and Canadian Labor Congress, will stage its founding convention in Ottawa July 31 to Aug. 4. The leadership will be settled then.

Mr. Douglas' political adversaries lost no time in offering their reaction.

Liberal leader Ross Thatcher of Saskatchewan called for the premier's immediate resignation. He said Mr. Douglas' move "indicates to me that Saskatchewan's unhappy experiment with socialism is drawing to an end." The CCF has been in power in this province for 16 years.

CRISIS LOOMS
Mr. Thatcher said Saskatchewan is facing the gravest economic crisis since the 1930s. "We cannot afford the luxury of absentee or part-time leadership for the months ahead. A byelection should be called in Weyburn this summer."

Mr. Douglas was first elected to the House of Commons as the representative for the southeastern centre of Weyburn in 1935. He now is member of the Saskatchewan legislature for the Weyburn constituency.

He was re-elected in the federal constituency in 1940 but the following year was named leader of the provincial party. He led the CCF to victory in 1944 and has been premier since then.

Other men mentioned as possible successors to Mr. Douglas are Attorney-General Robert A. Walker, 44, and Minister of Resources, Minister J. H. Brockelbank, 64.

Mr. Argue has represented the federal riding of Assiniboia in southeastern Saskatchewan for 16 years. The riding includes Premier Douglas' provincial riding of Weyburn.

"I am pleased that the New Party now will be able to select a new leader in a democratic way at a democratic convention," he said Wednesday.

THE BERLIN WALTZ

By JAMES MARLOW

Recognize the Lyrics?

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's like playing a slow waltz on an old phonograph record all over again.

Almost move by move, statement by statement, Russia and the West are going through a repetition of the Berlin problem of 1958-59.

That time Premier Khrushchev threatened a showdown in six months but let it melt away. Now he's set another six-month deadline.

Maybe now it will reach a crisis. Maybe it won't, since neither Khrushchev nor the West wants war.

It's possible he's stirring the Berlin kettle, with all its dangers, just to get concessions later from the worried West on something not now guessed.

Here's a quick run-down on the similarity: 1. Khrushchev proposed West Berlin be made a "free city" with the allies pulling out their troops (Nov. 27, 1958).

Khrushchev at the Vienna meeting with President Kennedy earlier this month proposed the same thing (June 4, 1961).

2. President Eisenhower said this country had a firm obligation to defend the people of West Berlin (Jan. 7, 1959).

Kennedy said the allies are determined to maintain their Berlin rights "at any risk" and their obligations to the Berliners (Jan. 8, 1961).

3. The Russians called for a 28-country conference to negotiate peace treaty based on reunification of Germany (Jan. 19, 1959).

The Russians proposed calling a peace conference on a German peace treaty (June 11, 1961).

4. Walter Ulbricht, Communist boss of East Germany, pledged there would be no blockade if the West "respected" East Germany's "sovereignty," although the West doesn't recognize East Germany as sovereign government (Jan. 18, 1959).

Khrushchev said there would be no blockade of Berlin (June 27, 1961).

5. Khrushchev warned it would be the "beginning of war" if the allies tried to force their way through to Berlin although, in view of Ulbricht's promise of no blockade, no force would seem necessary (Feb. 18, 1959).

Khrushchev, while saying there'd be no blockade, warned the Western powers they'd get their "come-uppance" if they tried any rough stuff (June 27, 1961).

6. Eisenhower told the Russians to cut out making threats (Jan. 1, 1959).

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

This Primrose Pretty But Weedy

Popular, or common, names of plants are frequently misleading, and none more so than "Evening Primroses."

The lanky species usually seen in gardens opens one flower at a time, and only in the evening or on an overcast day, but they bear no resemblance to primroses. Although the flowers are large, they scarcely offset the general appearance of weediness which characterizes this branch of the family.

Other members of the same genus are attractive perennials, dwarfier in habit, remarkably free flowering, and considered far more worthy of a place in the garden.

Botanically they are known as oenothera (ee-noth'-era) from Greek words indicating the imbibing of wine, a rather obscure reference to the Romans' belief in the potency of the roots of some species.

The largest flowers of the dwarf evening primroses are produced on the prostrate plants of narrow leaves by O. missouriensis. Slightly fragrant, opening during the day, the four-inch, lemon yellow flowers are followed by large, papery three-angled seed pods, eagerly sought by flower arrangers.

A tufted species suitable for rock garden pockets is O. caespitosa with toothed leaves and three-inch white flowers. These two low-growing kinds need space to spread their stems, and fully repay their rental.

Those reaching the height of 18 to 24 inches, and in the hardy perennial class, are varieties of O. fruticosa (shrubby). The plants have a somewhat woody base (hence their name) and this persists over winter bearing a rosette of leaves. Two varieties named Youngi and Fyrwerkeri are grown locally, and bear their yellow blossoms in profusion for most of the summer. Even the stems and buds are of interest, adding a red-bronze tinge to the plants.

The Americans call these flowers by the lovely name of Sundrops, for in reverse to the tall Evening Primroses, they are open by day, and drop with the sun.

There are also species bearing pink flowers, which as yet I have not seen.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Last-Hour Surge Moves Toronto Up

After being down the greater part of the session, industrial stocks rallied in the final hour to finish on the upside. Earlier steel and food were the big losers.

Paper showed a moderate degree of success with international up 1 1/2, while Abitibi and Bathurst had small gains. At New York the market was down.

AT TORONTO—the base metals market remained active in moderate trading with gains among the seniors again accounting for much of the field's rise. Falconbridge, Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting, Quebec, Denison and Consolidated Mining and Smelting all had good gains, while small losses went to Ventures and International Nickel.

Gold trading was light. In light western oil trading, Central Del Rio, Calgary and Edmonton, Home A and B and Hudson's Bay Oil all rose, while Pacific Petroleum lost a fraction.

AT NEW YORK, among Canadian issues listed, Distillers-Seagrams was up 1/2 and Walker Gooderham 1/2. International Nickel was down 1/2. American stock exchange prices were generally higher. Canadian oils gained fractionally. Shawinigan lost 1/2 apiece among industrials.

AT MONTREAL stock price changes moved fractionally lower on the stock exchange today during moderate trading.

AT LONDON stocks recorded a fair number of small gains today but gilt-edged securities were uncertain. Dollar stocks showed a number of improvements. Industrials were mixed and golds were quietly firm.

Tins were in demand and showed a number of good improvements. Oils were quiet and undecided.

AT VANCOUVER trading was generally quiet with light volume during the morning. For St. John went at $1.60. Friday mines was at a high of 53. Torwest went up to 26. Bethlehem Copper moved at $1.20. Kamloops Copper traded at 15. Cold Lake Pipe was at $1. Woodward Stores "A" at $20.25. Imperial Breweries sold at $4.25.

Shrum Speech New Hint Of B.C. Power Complex

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Investment men back this week from the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada meeting at Jasper say that Dean Gordon B. Shrum's talk on the Columbia and Peace power developments was probably one of the finest speeches ever given to the I.D.A.

And, although Dr. Shrum claimed that his talk was in no sense a preview of the B.C. Energy Board's August report on the Columbia, there was no doubt that he, as board chairman, is eminently in favor of pushing ahead with both the Columbia and the Peace projects—provided that the power can be exported.

In fact, reading Dr. Shrum's speech, the conviction grows that the Energy Board report will be predicated entirely on export. It's a safe bet that the report will say, in effect, "no export, no deal."

"There are really no arguments against exporting surplus power, provided one can find a market for it... In fact we are exporting it now to the Arctic and Pacific Oceans but we do not get paid for it," Dr. Shrum said.

DR. ROBERT THOMPSON ... heads national group

FOR PARTY LEADERSHIP

Two Former MPs On Sacred Slate

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Two former members of Parliament from British Columbia are among four prospective candidates for the national Social Credit leadership. They have a lot in common.

Rev. Alexander Patterson, 50, has definitely tossed his hat into the ring for the July 4-7 leadership convention in Ottawa.

George Hahn, 49-year-old schoolteacher-merchant, isn't sure whether to let his name stand.

The other two candidates for the post left vacant by Solon Low's retirement are Dr. Robert Thompson of Edmonton, president of the Social Credit Association of Canada, and Real Caquette of Rouyn, Que., former MP.

Mr. Patterson and Mr. Hahn were born in Saskatchewan, have four children each and both sat in Parliament from 1953 to 1958 when they were defeated in the Progressive Conservative sweep that ousted Social Credit from the Commons.

Mr. Patterson was born at Raymore, Sask., of Irish-Scottish parents. On settling in Abbotsford, B.C., in the farm-rich Fraser Valley, he became pastor of the town's Church of the Nazarene.

He was elected to the Commons for Fraser Valley in 1953. The next year he resigned as minister saying he couldn't do justice to both positions.

He lost his seat in 1958 and since has been busy with church and political work in his home area. He is a member of the board of the B.C. auxiliary of the British and Foreign Bible Society.

Mr. Hahn is a native of Killaly, Sask., where he was born of Austrian-German parents. He taught school for 13 years in Alberta before coming to the New Westminster area to set up as a merchant. He is first vice-president of the B.C. Social Credit.

After losing his seat in Parliament, he was elected reeve of the big Fraser Valley municipality of Surrey but resigned this year to run as a Social Credit candidate in the Esquimalt-Saanich federal by-election, won by the PCs. He ran fourth.

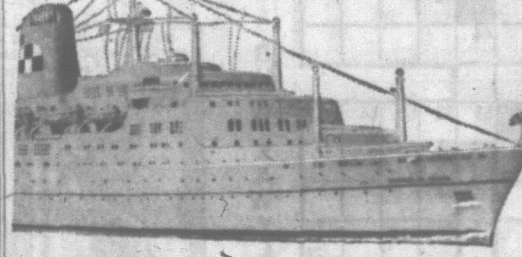

U.S. UNIONS REJECT WAGE RESTRAINT PLEA

UNITY HOUSE, Pa. (UPI)—AFL-CIO leaders made it clear today they will demand further pay increases despite calls for wage restraint from top officials of the Kennedy administration.

The executive council of the 13-million-member labor federation said negotiated wage gains did not threaten the nation with rising prices or runaway inflation.

In a statement adopted Wednesday night, the council asserted that union-won pay boosts were required to help reduce heavy unemployment and bring "real recovery" from recession.

INDUSTRIAL RESEARCH

$10 Million Plan Urged by Shrum

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. Gordon Shrum, director of the British Columbia Research Council, said Wednesday the federal and provincial governments should make substantial financial contributions towards research in secondary industry.

Dr. Shrum, addressing the council's annual meeting, said the provincial government should put up a flat $5,000,000—to be matched by industry—for a research fund.

Dr. Shrum said a substantial research fund would make an economic impression within 12 months.

CAN'T BLAME WAGES

The former head of the University of British Columbia's physics department said Canada's trade troubles cannot be blamed on lower wage costs in competing countries.

An example of this, he said, was the fact that Canada had a trade deficit with the United States—which has a higher wage level than Canada—while holding a trade advantage over Japan, where the wages are lower.

Trade and Industry Minister Bonner, who attended the council meeting, replied to Dr. Shrum's demand for $5,000,000 for research by suggesting that the provincial government could perhaps make research expenditure—tax concessions similar to those in the recent federal budget.

Marshall Named President Of Game Club

CAMPBELL RIVER—Dunc Marshall has been elected president of Campbell River Fish and Game Club.

A life member of the club and an active conservationist, he was president of the club from February, 1957, to June, 1959. For the past two years he has served on the executive committee.

Other officers elected were: L. G. Van Egan, vice-president; Doris Eert, secretary; Ed Spencer, treasurer.

HERE! THE TORO ROTARY THAT BAGS GRASS!

Cuts Grass As No Other Rotary Does!

The Toro Whitewind vacuum-cleans your lawn! It cuts more evenly because of the "Wind Tunnel" that raises each blade of grass upright for a crisp, clean cut... then blows clippings into the bagging attachment! Also picks up leaves, twigs, lawn litter, etc.

Clippings have a clear track to be blown into the bag, cannot form clumps or clog. If you wish, they may be blown uniformly over your lawn.

Three-season workover. Use your TORO Whitewind for spring clean-up, summer mowing, fall leaf disposal!

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions have a chance to win a valuable prize. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammon's Atlas of China. Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times. Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Marvin Milton, age 13, of Candler, N.C., for his question:

What Is the Moon Made Of?
The sun is 400 times farther away. The scientists can tell of 60 or more different elements in the sun. Yet, strange to say, no one can prove what the moon is made of. This is because we detect an element by the spectrograph, an instrument which pictures the spectrum, the bands of light given off by a burning gas. The sun is made from burning gases and each gas writes its own name on the spectrograph. But there are no burning gases on the moon, no gases of any sort. The telescope shows us pictures of the moon's face, its craters and pointed peaks, its smooth plains, its rays and rills. The lunar landscape seems to be made from rocks and cinder debris. But there are thousands of different rocks on earth, and no one can prove which, if any, of our common minerals are on the face of the moon. Some observers claim to have seen glints of red, blue and green, but no one has proved this.

Dark, Dirty, Brown Minerals

So far as we know, the lunar landscape is made from dark, rather dirty brown minerals. Its golden light, of course, is merely the reflected glory of the sun shining on the side of the moon which is to enjoy two weeks of daylight. The mass or weight of the moon, however, may give us a few hints about the kinds of substances from which it is made. Our earth is the heaviest planet for its size in the entire Solar System. It weighs five and a half times as much as an equal volume of water. For this reason, we think that the earth's core is made of heavy metals such as iron and nickel. If it were made entirely of the type of rocks we find in the crust, it would not be nearly so heavy. The earth is a little less than four times the size of the moon, yet it would take about 83 moons to equal its weight. Compared with water, the moon has a density of 3.39—it weighs 3.39 times more than an equal volume of water. This is about the same density of the rocks of the earth's crust. For this reason, we can guess that the moon is made entirely of minerals similar to those in the earth's crust. But no one will be certain of this until the first astronauts bring back their rock samples.

Andy sends a Hammon's Library World Atlas to Yvonne Parfian, age 13, of Montana, Calif., for her question:
Does the Sun Move?
The sun rotates on its axis and it travels a vast circular path through the Galaxy. The great star, big enough to swallow our earth more than a million times, is a round ball of gases. As it rotates, the gases in some areas tend to lag behind. The earth, of course, is fairly solid and it rotates as a solid unit. At the sun's equator, one complete rotation takes 25 earth days. This means that we get a chance to see all sides of the dazzling sun in a little less than a month.

The sun is part of the Galaxy, a huge cartwheel system containing about 100 billion stars. This great wheel spins around, taking all its stars with it, including our sun. The sun is travelling around the Galaxy at a speed of 170 miles a second—and with it goes the whole Solar System.

Summer Classes Proving Popular

By JACK HUTTON

Two years ago some Canadian educators ran a survey of their high school students and came up with a result that amazed them.

A large number of students said they wanted to attend school during the summer.

Let's face it, I'm glad no one ever asked me the same question. But thousands of students all across Canada are for one reason or another planning to attend school this summer.

A survey of major cities across Canada disclosed that almost every city was planning some form of summer course and has been doing the same for some time.

This may sound like a grim prediction, but I would forecast that summer classes are going to become much more common in future years. Schools in Florida, for instance, are allowed to operate on a year-round basis.

Benefits

What are the benefits? The summer classes give some students a chance to catch up on one or two subjects they have missed. But, even more important, others are sharpening up their grasp of subjects they'll have to take later.

For example, more than 100 students who have just left Grade 8 in London, Ont., will study high school English and mathematics for five weeks this summer—and are paying a $20 fee each to do it!

Students in St. Catharines, Ont., and Halifax, N.S., are only a handful of the number who have taken advantage of similar courses during recent years.

Is this a move towards year-round school? Although there are some people who argue that it is, I don't think you need worry too much. Newark, N.J., tried 12-month schooling between 1921 and 1931 before bowing to criticism.

More Courses

But more and more school systems—both in Canada and in the U.S.—are making courses available for students who want them. New York, for example, had 50,000 students in 14 summer high schools last year.

There is no doubt about it. Summer classes are the coming thing in Canada. For many of us, they may mean the difference between passing and failing or between winning a scholarship later or not. It's all up to how you use them.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics doesn't have very many cheering words about summer jobs this year—in case you're still looking for one.

The DBS reports that summer jobs are down 30 per cent this year while the number of applicants for them has climbed 20 per cent during the last year.

'Musical Chairs'

But don't entirely give up hope. Employment officials also point out that a game of "musical chairs" seems to take place each year after July 1.

By that they mean that a certain percentage of college and high school students start their summer jobs and leave them shortly for one reason or another.

University students, of course, have the edge over high school students, since they start holidays sooner and have the extra advantage of being older. But keep your eyes open and something may come up.

No Elvis Fans

I know from the letters you've written that many people disagree about Elvis Presley. Teen-agers either seem to be completely for or against him with few people in between.

It surprised me to find out that Elvis is the pet hate of teen-age moviegoers in Scotland, where 5,000 boys and girls between 14 and 18 were polled for their reactions.

The survey, released by the Scottish Educational Film Association and Scottish Film Council, put Elvis at the top of the unpopularity list, closely followed by British glamor film star Diana Dors.

(Don't know whether we should mention this, but twice as many girls as boys disliked Diana Dors. I'm sure that means something—but I don't know what.)

What to Do

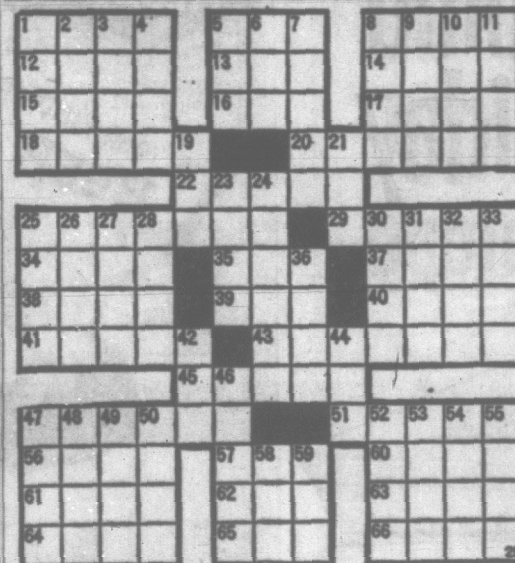

"Aw, there's never anything to do around here." Ever hear that complaint from any of your friends? Now that school is out, we've been hearing it from a few people.

Even if one hasn't a job, there are so many other possibilities. We've discussed seeing other places in this column several times, but that's only one possibility.

Did you ever think of working for nothing? One teen-ager in Montreal West, for example, ran errands for free in an architect's firm. He not only earned the odd tip but learned enough about architecture to decide this was his future profession.

During the next few columns, we'll take a look at what other friends are doing. Perhaps they'll have hints which will give you an idea to follow through.

FERRIES HIT AIRPORT REVENUES

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. government ferry service between Tsawwassen and Swartz Bay is continuing to eat into revenues of Vancouver International airport.

Manager Bill Inglis said Wednesday traffic at the end of April totalled 254,378 passengers compared with 282,978 for the first four months of last year. He blamed the 10 per cent reduction on the new mainland-Vancouver Island ferry.

Canadian Firm Buys Elevator Company

TORONTO (CP)—Combined Enterprises Ltd. of Toronto, has announced the purchase of Watson Elevator Company Inc. of New York.

M. O. Simpson, Jr., president, said it was the company's second United States acquisition in five weeks. The Frink Sno-Plows Inc., Clayton, N.Y., was purchased May 25.

Mr. Simpson said the two companies were purchased for a figure in excess of $2,000,000.

NEWS OF VANCOUVER ISLAND CENTRES

Celebrations, Sports Feature Holiday Weekend

Three days of celebration and sports events are scheduled for the holiday weekend.

At Sidney the annual Sidney Day program will get under way with a parade Saturday at 11 a.m. An entertainment program will be staged at Memorial Park in the afternoon, and there will be a ball at Sanscha Hall starting at 9 p.m.

Duncan festivities will start Friday with the opening of a senior baseball tournament at Kinsmen Stadium at 6:30 p.m. It will continue Saturday and Sunday.

Two-day horse show will start Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at Cowichan Exhibition grounds, and at 9 a.m. Sunday.

Annual Vancouver Island Open golf tournament at Cowichan Golf and Country Club will start early Saturday morning and continue throughout the day.

Chemainus will open its Saturday program with a parade at 12:30, to be followed by a celebration at the baseball park. Feature Sunday will be hydroplane racing on Fuller's Lake, starting at noon.

Most of the logging operations on Vancouver Island which shut down last week because of hot, dry weather have resumed work.

At the peak of the hot spell there were about 3,000 loggers out of work on the east coast of the island.

DUNCAN — After negotiating with trucking firms, Duncan city council has amended its proposed bylaw to control parking in the downtown area.

Instead of restricting use of loading zones to between 9 and 11 a.m., they will be available from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Instead of an over-all ban on trailer trucks, the bylaw states vehicles over 26 feet in length may not use Kenneth, Craig or Station Streets without a permit.

NANAIMO — An engineering survey of the bridging of the channel to Newcastle Island with a span 60 feet high has been promised by Recreation Minister Earle Westwood.

Recommendations will be sent to the harbor commission, which will forward them to the federal government for approval. If sanctioned, then the provincial government will build the bridge.

DUNCAN — Too much allegro on the highway Sunday near Mill Bay cost Victoria Symphony Orchestra conductor Hans Gruber $15 and $5 costs in police court here Wednesday.

He had been checked by radar, and was charged with travelling at 70 miles per hour in a 60-mile zone. David R. Williams, his counsel, said Mr. Gruber was in a stream of traffic which was exceeding the limit, and that he was keeping pace with cars ahead of him.

CAMPBELL RIVER — A weary pigeon bearing the band number AA-60-2442, and believed lost while racing, is being held here by the SPCA pending a claim by the owner.

NANAIMO — John Emmerson Carr, 62, who pleaded guilty in city police court Wednesday to contributing to juvenile delinquency, was sentenced to two years.

Case involved three girls under 10 years of age. Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts said the case was one of the worst ever to come before the court, and told Carr his actions were "contemptible."

R. H. Pooley Widow Leaves $789,422

Mrs. Mary Louise Pooley, widow of Hon. R. H. Pooley, a former attorney-general of British Columbia, left estate valued at $789,422, it was disclosed in her will probated at Victoria Courthouse Wednesday.

She left $10,000 to the Canadian Red Cross and $10,000 to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Other bequests were $10,000 and $2,400 a year to the family children's nurse; $720 a year to the companion of Miss Alice Pooley; $5,000 to Campbell Sweeney of Vancouver and $2,000 to her chauffeur.

Residue of her estates goes to her step-daughters, Mrs. R. H. Tye and Mrs. David Groos of Victoria. Mrs. Pooley was the second wife of Hon. R. H. Pooley, who was for many years MLA for Esquimalt. He served as attorney-general in the Tolmie government from 1928 to 1933 and died in 1954.

GUARDS RIGHTS OF WORKERS

Checkoff Ban Defended

VANCOUVER (CP)—Counsel for the B.C. government Wednesday described the province's new ban on use of union checkoff funds for political purposes as a measure designed to assure "free and unfettered political choice" to the individual.

The new rule prevents the individual union member being "shackled" to a particular political party against his will, said Douglas McK. Brown.

Mr. Brown is appearing for the attorney-general in a case testing the amendment to the B.C. Labor Relations Act.

"It does not deprive the union member of any of his rights as a voter and if he happens to favor the New Party he is not prevented from making voluntary contributions to it," said Mr. Brown. "The trade union he belongs to is free to encourage this if it so wishes," he said.

Counsel for the Oil, Chem.

ical and Atomic Workers Union, which is challenging the constitutional validity of the measure in the B.C. supreme court test case, has said the purpose of the amendment is to "destroy the New Party almost at birth."

The union maintains such legislation strikes at the principles of British parliamentary rule by interfering with a political party, and therefore cannot be enacted by any province.

Release Notorious Kidnapper

CHICAGO (AP)—Basil (The Owl) Banghart, notorious bad man of the 1920s and 1930s and now ailing and nearly blind at 61, was released on parole from Stateville penitentiary today.

He has been in prison since 1934 for kidnapping.

Banghart and Roger Touhy, leader of a prohibition era gang in Chicago, were sentenced to 99 years on charges of kidnapping John (Jake The Barber) Factor in August, 1933.

Factor, a barber who became a wealthy broker, testified he paid $100,000 to the Touhy gang for his freedom. Toughy's sentence was commuted and he was paroled in 1958. Twenty-three days after his release from prison he was gunned down by assailants who were never caught.

'FAMILY-STYLE' PLAN APPROVED BY CURLERS

Victoria Curling Club has agreed to go "family-style."

That was the verdict brought down by members Wednesday at an extraordinary general meeting.

To bring about a "family-style" club offering more facilities to an expanded membership, directors were authorized:

1. To negotiate further with civic and arena authorities for lease rental of adjoining properties; and
2. To go ahead with plans to raise enough money through new memberships to insure the cost of the addition.

If these objectives are achieved, another meeting will be called for final approval of plans and constitutional changes.

SIDELINE SLANTS

BY

Doug Peden

As a former professional hockey player and manager of arenas at Corner Brook, Newfoundland, and Ingersoll, Ontario, Joe Iannarelli might be expected to be almost immune from butterflies behind the belt line.

But today Joe admits he has those "before-game" flutters in the tummy as he waits for the doors of the new Esquimalt Sports Centre to swing open.

Tonight the municipality is staging official opening ceremonies for invited guests, but the manager of the concrete structure on Esquimalt Road isn't fretting about tonight's festivities. It's Saturday's "open house" that has him jittery.

On Saturday the public is invited to take a good look at the building that should become the hub of Esquimalt athletic activity. They'll open the doors at 10 a.m.; Reeve A. C. Wurtele will give a welcoming address at 10:45; the first 1,000 youngsters into the building are slated to receive free balloons; there will be square-dancing and roller skating exhibitions during the day; door prizes will be handed out every half hour and the day will wind up with free dancing from 8 to 11 p.m.

"I'll feel a lot better when Saturday's over," said Iannarelli. "I know we have a fine building, but I just worry that some bugs might pop up."

Booked for Coast Curling Bonspiel

Business as usual starts next week. A figure-skating school launches its eight-week sessions Monday. Also in the curling rink, public skating begins Tuesday, is slated four nights each week.

In the main arena, roller skating is in the books for Mondays and Wednesdays. Team dances are carded Friday. That, Joe hopes, is only the beginning. He is in the process of lining up several events that have requested bookings, waiting only for information on rental scales. Portland's Western Hockey League club is expected to train at the centre in September; the first Pacific Coast International Bonspiel will occupy both the main arena and curling rink at Esquimalt and the Victoria Curling Club next February.

Iannarelli has hockey plans, but nothing definite to work on yet. He'd like to see an Island league or a four-team commercial league with Navy using the Esquimalt ice as its home stamping grounds. And he wonders why more adults haven't set up play-for-fun hockey loops.

"Everybody seems to think in terms of crowds when talking about hockey," he says. "What's wrong with people playing for fun? Two hockey teams can rent the arena for little more per player than it would cost individually to take part in a crowded public skating session."

Lots of Plans for Youngsters, Too

Esquimalt isn't forgetting the youngsters. "This is a community centre and it's for the people," stresses Iannarelli. In the planning are minor hockey leagues, figure skating for the small fry, other athletic and recreational activities for the young in years and the young in heart.

Esquimalt's new pride and joy probably won't greatly affect Victoria's arena and curling rink. It will just make more recreation available for more people, develop new curling and skating addicts and provide a good outlet for the energy of kids in the area.

Joe was chucking as proudly as a hen with a new brood of chicks as he led the way on a tour of the concrete-block building. Pointing out the offices, four dressing rooms, skate-shop, concession booths, kitchen, banquet room, skimpy press box, handy exits and other features of his new place of business which seats 1,600 and may be altered to accommodate 1,800.

He lingered to dwell on the upper concourse, where fans, on some winter evenings, will be able to watch hockey in the main arena with its 200 by 86-foot ice sheet—the same size as Memorial Arena—then walk a few feet and peer down at rock-tossing in the six-sheet curling rink.

Learned From Mistakes of Others

Trips to visit other arenas in the province and finding out about mistakes in other buildings have apparently paid off at Esquimalt, where the idea of the sports centre was hatched in 1960 and construction started just six months ago.

Thoughtful planning had produced a building that should keep operational costs down and efficient operation up. Frills are few, but there is no doubt that the municipality got a lot for the $325,000 spent on the building. Property costs and other charges will bring to total outlay just above $400,000.

It is a rare and fortunate municipality that has such an extensive sports layout in such a central location. Few people in Esquimalt seem worried about paying off something like $35,000 on bonds. Some expect a profit.

"We don't plan to make money," says Reeve Wurtele. "It's a community service, but we're hoping it will pay its way. We think it will serve our community very well."

So, apparently, do most citizens down Esquimalt way.

Wakeham the Choice In Cowichan Open

DUNCAN—Bill Wakeham of Gorge Vale is rated one of the hot favorites to take top spot in the annual Cowichan Open to be held at the Cowichan Golf and Country Club Saturday.

He will be defending the title he collected last year. Sixty other golfers, both pro and amateur, will be competing for prizes.

Golfers are entered from Victoria, Duncan, Nanaimo, Comox and Vancouver.

The draw follows:

'LOOKING FOR THE COURT, BOB?'

Fancy poses are commonplace in tennis but this one takes the cake. Bob Hewitt of Australia adopted it—unintentionally—at Wimbledon Wednesday. Dashing to retrieve a shot, he slipped, landed on his head. After righting himself he went back to conventional stance to defeat Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, N.Y., 10-8, 2-6, 6-2.—(AP Wirephoto.)

Hide the Razor Blades! Managers in Bad Mood

Don't be surprised if there's an epidemic of stolen razor blades today because at least half a dozen major league managers must be in a mood to slit their throats.

It was that kind of a day and night Wednesday when second division teams rose up to knock off contenders, players traded away came back to haunt former teammates and two teams played a record five-hour and 11-minute, 15-inning game that ended in a 7-7 tie because of sandlot-type play.

Take Fred Hutchinson of the National League leading Cincinnati Reds, for example, who saw the lowly Chicago Cubs drub his club, 16-5 and 7-2. Or, Ralph Houk of New York Yankees, who moaned and groaned as Ryne Duren pitched three-hit ball and added insult to injury with a two-run single in Los Angeles' 5-3 victory over the AL champions.

Manager Alvin Dark is still another who might be ready to end it all after watching his San Francisco Giants blow two extra-inning leads, including a 7-4 lead in the 15th frame before the Philadelphia Phillies achieved a tie on a wild return throw by catcher Hobie Landrith to the pitcher.

Managers Jimmy Dykes and Walt Alton shared in the grief, too, as Washington Senators split a doubleheader with Dykes' Cleveland Indians and Pittsburgh Pirates dealt Los Angeles Dodgers a 9-3 defeat.

Duren, traded away by the Yankees this year, struck out 12 before yielding Mantle's ninth-inning homer and turning over the game to Jim Donohue, who retired the last three batters. Duren, hitless in two years, was allowed to bat for himself with the bases filled and the Angels trailing 1-0, in the sixth and came through with a two-run single.

NEIGH FOR MOSSI

Rookies Steve Boros and Jake Wood had three hits each and Don Mossi won his ninth game as the AL leading Detroit Tigers ended Chicago White Sox' 12-game winning streak, 12-5. Earl Robinson's three-run homer and Wes Stock's two-hit relief pitching over 6½ innings paced the Baltimore Orioles to a 5-4 win over Kansas City Athletics and homers by Gary Geiger and Frank Malzone helped Boston Red Sox to a 6-2 decision over Minnesota Twins in other AL games.

Aussies Flay County Team

TAUNTON, England (Reuters)—The Australians, who fielded only five members of the team that beat England at Lord's in the second Test, flayed Somerset County's attack on the first day of a match here Wednesday and decimated it for four three wickets.

At the close, Somerset had scored 32 for one wicket in reply.

Other close-of-play scores: Surrey 25 for eight (declared), Oxford University 28 for no wicket; Middlesex 190, Hampshire 76 for four; Derbyshire 191, Yorkshire 72 for one; Colonel Stevens XI 251, Cambridge University 28 for no wicket; Worcestershire 226, Northamptonshire 89 for two; Sussex 208, Leicestershire 25 for three; Warwickshire 155, Glamorgan 58 for two; Lancashire 248, Gloucestershire 25 for two.

Bob's Boys Best With Slow Start

Surging Vancouver Club Threat for Playoff Title

Vancouver 12, Victoria 6
By DOUG PEDEN

New Westminster is still running out in front in the Inter-City Lacrosse League race, but you might have trouble finding many people willing to bet that the boys from the Royal City will pick up all the marbles when playoff time rolls around.

Smart money around the circuit is saying Vancouver is the club to watch in playoff battles and might still get down in front for a second straight league title.

Now only three points behind the pacesetters after clipping Victoria, 12-6, at Memorial Arena Wednesday night, Vancouver rates more respect since it began operating on a different timetable.

Under former coach Jack McKinnon, the Vans, with the carefree exuberance of youth, had a habit of flashing like tigers through the first two months of the season and then willing like last week's lettuce on the trip down the home stretch.

Maturing under present pilot Bobby Marsh, they have reversed the procedure, starting gently and picking up steam as the season grinds along. Last season Vancouver won the league crown for the first time in many a summer, then was upset by Nanaimo in the playoff final.

This year Marsh's lads didn't exactly look like Harry Jerome getting away from the starting blocks are dropped behind Westminster. But in the past fortnight they've started to percolate, taking three of a possible four points from the leaders last week and whipping Victoria twice this week.

Backbone of Husky Young Veterans

"We're improved from last year," says Marsh, "and I think we should take the league. I think we should win the playoffs, too. If I can get the guys playing the game they are capable of, we'll be too good for the other teams."

Backbone of the club is a big and husky corps of young veterans, including Bill Barbour, Gordie Gimple, Fred Usselman, Ted Hunt, Wayne Peckhold, Alex Carey, Bill Babcock and Pete Black, all just about at their peak. Helping more than a little are a pair of rookies—wiry little forward

Wayne Shuttleworth, who appears capable of developing into the loop's best defence man.

Only real veterans are Alex MacKay, Bill Brenner, John Cervi and goalie Stan Joseph. Joseph has not had much chance to use his talents in recent games. Former Victorian Don Hamilton has staked a solid claim to the net-minding berth and Stan may not be able to get him out.

Hamilton was as sharp as a needle Wednesday as Vancouver handed the Vics their 15th defeat, holding the fort until his mates built up a comfortable lead.

Don Slammed Door In Third Period

More efficient around the goal, the Vans went ahead 3-1 in the opening period and were leading 5-3 at half-time. Don slammed the door in the third session as Vancouver made it 8-3 before coasting through the final quarter.

Hamilton blocked a total of 25 shots and would have had a busier evening if Victoria snipers had taken better aim before pulling the trigger. Young Harry Forbes, playing well in the Victoria nets, stopped 24 drives.

Gimple, with two goals and three assists; Hunt (three goals), Babcock (two goals and one helper) and Usselman (two tallies) paced the Vancouver attack.

Ron Jay, collecting two goals and a pair of assists; Whitey Severson, who boosted his ICLL career total to 993 points with a goal and an assist; Fred Doig, Reg Foster, and John Hanson fired goals for the Vics.

Although never appearing quite capable of handling their rugged rivals, the Vics several times seemed ready to give it a try as they attempted to control the ball with a slow, passing game. Lack of confidence seemed to hurt and many chances were wasted by shoddy shooting and wayward passes when within shooting range.

They make their next start at home next Wednesday against New Westminster, which has a chance to boost its lead to seven points in games against Nanaimo to night and Saturday.

STEEN LEAVES HOSPITAL THIS WEEKEND

Dave Steen will be discharged from St. Joseph's Hospital this weekend, his face still puffed and tender from an accident in last Saturday's Vancouver Island track and field championships.

Steen was struck by a discus minutes after he set a new Canadian record for the shot-put. He was rushed to hospital where he was treated for a broken nose, broken teeth and facial cuts.

Hospital authorities today described his condition as "very good." He is expected to return to his home in Vancouver upon discharge.

Cricket Reps Travel; Seattle Side Visits

A select group of Victoria and District cricket players travels to Vancouver Sunday for the first leg of Virtue Cup play against the best of the Mainland. The second leg will be played here Labor Day.

Paul Gadsen will captain the Victoria All-Stars. Other members: Tom Brierley, Ken Ackroyd, Jack Sparks, Alana

Wright, Dave Cullen, Wally Tate, John Moss, Ken Greenwood, Jim Richards and Gil Ferreira.

In friendly matches, Five C's host Seattle at Beacon Hill Park, Saturday, at 2:15 p.m. Oak Bay and Seattle play an all-day match at Beacon Hill, Sunday, starting at 11:30 a.m. Albions are at Cowichan in a league match Saturday.

BOYD HEADLINES CARD AT ARENA

Dollars, Not Medals, Spurs Quartet Tonight

If incentive breeds action, there should be ample of the latter in tonight's professional boxing program at Memorial Arena.

Heading the list of punchers are a pair of ring-wise light-heavyweights — Chicago's Bobby Boyd and Ernie Gibson of Seattle—who will tangle in the 10-round feature bout.

Long on incentive should be four amateur champions who are swapping leather for pay for the first time.

One is Victoria middleweight Al Curtis, B.C. Golden Boy in 1960, who faces San Francisco's Ron Milne in a five-round special bout.

Expected to attract attention is Ray Karski, a Chicago "white hope" heavyweight who was champion of the U.S. Eighth Army. Karski makes his pro debut against Seattle's Buddy Burton in a six-round semi-windup clash.

Two finalists in the U.S. Golden Gloves at Chicago last year and now punching out of Portland are also stepping into the money ranks. Light-heavy Richie Peters is matched with Frankie Rowe of Seattle. Willie Richie, a fleet welterweight, has drawn Joe Merritt of Seattle as his ring partner. Both bouts will be four-rounders or less.

Winding up the seven-bout card will be a lightweight scrap between Portland rivals "Bang Bang" Walker and Harold Nelson, and what should be a free-swinging argument between Seattle's 240-pound Willie Townsend and Yakima's Joe Mederes.

Action starts at 8:30.

STRIKE THREATENS

LONDON (AP)—The threat of a strike which could halt this summer's program of British professional soccer has been raised by the players' union.

The union rejected as "totally unacceptable" a decision by English League club owners to insist on retention of the present retain-and-transfer system. Under this system players are tied to their clubs unless and until the management grants them a transfer to another team.

After prolonged negotiations last spring, representatives of the owners agreed to scrap the system and let a player sell his services elsewhere whenever his club contract expired. But later the club owners as a whole voted against the agreement.

EARTH OPENED and swallowed salesman Frank J. Watson, car and all, as he drove through downtown Seattle Wednesday. The only damage was a rip in his pants. Watson said a huge crater opened in the street ahead of him and his car dropped 10 feet. The 100-foot cave-in occurred above an area being excavated for a parking lot at the new city hall under construction on Fifth Avenue.—(AP Wirephoto.)

Senator Paid in Cash 'For Income Tax Purposes'

MONTREAL (CP)—Dr. George Hori, president of Jean Talon Hospital, said Wednesday it was probably for income tax purposes that Senator Henri Courtemanche received cash instead of cheques for his work for the hospital. Testifying before a provincial board of inquiry looking into the hospital's affairs, Dr. Hori made the statement in reply to a question from Laurent Choquette, counsel for the board.

Sen. Courtemanche, former secretary of state in the federal Progressive Conservative cabinet, appeared before the board last week and denied receiving cash—instead of cheques from the hospital or a 10-per-cent kickback on government grants to the hospital.

Mr. Choquette said the hospital books show that cheques for $2,500 and $4,500 were issued in Sen. Courtemanche's name in September and October, 1956.

These coincided with dates on which cheques for the same amounts and made out to cash were issued with the senator's name inscribed opposite the amounts on the cheque stubs, he said.

COINCIDED WITH GRANT

Mr. Choquette said a $9,000 payment coincided with a $90,000 government grant obtained by the hospital, and a payment in 1956 of $10,000 to the senator coincided with a $100,000 grant.

Earlier Dr. Hori, who asked for and got a promise that nothing he said would be used against him in any future court appearances, said there was never any question of Sen. Courtemanche receiving a 10 per cent kickback on government grants.

He said the hospital would not exist now if it were not for the senator. He was "very grateful" to Sen. Courtemanche.

The most effective way of determining the importance of the senator's legal services to the hospital was the number of government grants the hospital received, Dr. Hori said.

government during the five-year period.

He said he drew a net profit of "possibly about 10 per cent" on transactions with the provincial government.

He said he was recommended for the kickbacks on provincial government purchases by "a man I respect, a man for whom I have growing admiration, Honorable Gerald Martineau."

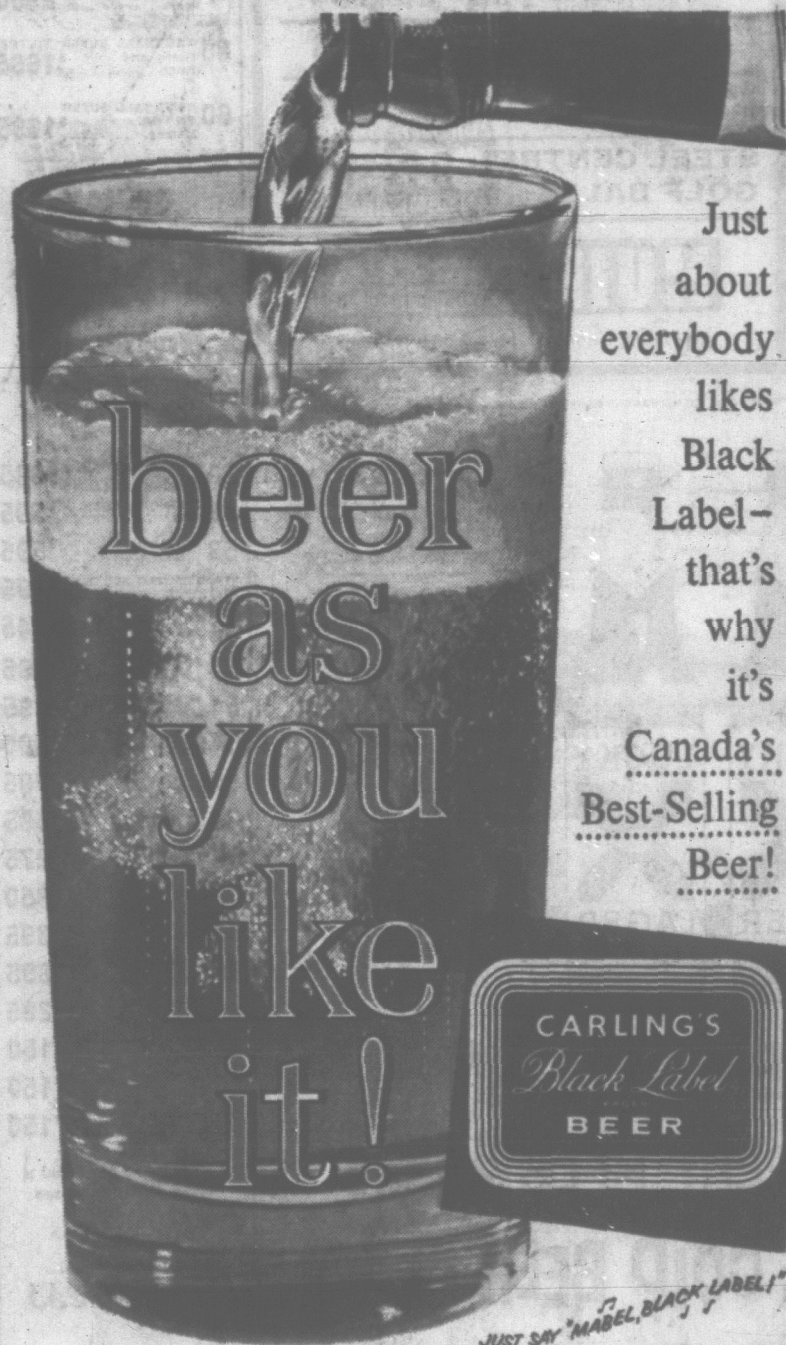

Mr. Martineau is a Quebec City businessman and a member of the Legislative Council—the provincial upper house.

The hearing continues today.

$21,000 in Kickbacks

QUEBEC (CP)—Lucien Boucher, Progressive Conservative party organizer for eastern Quebec, told a Quebec royal commission Wednesday he received about $21,000 in kickbacks on provincial government purchases from private firms between 1955 and 1960.

Mr. Boucher, 46, Conservative organizer since 1957, said his firm, a distributing outlet for motors and machinery parts, did about $175,000 worth of business with the Quebec

In Sooke RCMP court Tuesday:

Granville Pryce Thomas, 565 Atkins Avenue, $15 for failing to yield half the highway to oncoming traffic.

Lorne Richard Hammett, HMCS Naden, $25 for careless driving.

Welfare Head Criticizes Health Policy

Family and Children's Service director David Woodsworth Wednesday revived criticism of the provincial government's decision to deny health service benefits to unemployed employables.

"I know of families who are feeling the pinch very badly because of this rule," he said, "and it should be changed."

The decision, revoking health benefits for those who went on relief after Jan. 16, was bitterly criticized earlier this year by various groups.

Construction started on 16,800 new homes in Australia in the first quarter of 1961, a decline of more than 2,000 from a year previous.

AT GORGE HOSPITAL

Rehabilitation 'New Frontier'

Trail-blazing work in Gorge Road Hospital's rehabilitation program has excited interest in eastern U.S. medical centres, the hospital's new administrator said Wednesday.

Raymond Walker, 36, arrived from Boston to take over from Mrs. Florence Mutrie who is retiring after seven years in the post.

"The exciting program of rehabilitation here is the reason I trekked across the country," he said in an interview.

"This is really the new frontier in the eyes of leading medical people in Boston."

"Victoria is embarking on a program that is a great challenge, because of its complexity and exciting because of its immense possibilities."

Mr. Walker came to Canada from Britain in 1943 and won his BA at Sir George Williams College, Montreal.

He worked in personnel administration in Calgary and Winnipeg, holding the post of director of personnel at Winnipeg General Hospital before going to Boston for advanced study in hospital administration under a Yale School of Medicine program.

He spent the past year in administrative residency at the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston.

THE COWS MUST GO THROUGH

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP)—Vermont, as everyone knows has more cows than it has people—and the state senate recognized that fact of life Wednesday.

It passed a bill which provides that when a new highway project cuts off cows' routes to pasture—the state will build special underpasses for them.

Farmers with herds larger than 50 cows would have to defray 10 per cent of the estimated $10,000 cost of a cow-pass.

STRAWBERRY CROP OFF

VANCOUVER (CP)—A combination of hot weather and a shortage of pickers is cutting the yield of Fraser Valley strawberry crops. Growers reported Wednesday the yield might drop as much as 40 per cent.

Meanwhile, Delta MLA Jim Rhodes has asked the federal government to set up a deficiency plan with a floor price of 15 cents a pound for strawberry growers. He said U.S. berries are being dumped on the local market at a processed price of 16½ cents a pound below the local production cost.

Wonderful outdoor favorites . . . all meat . . . and so delicious. SPORK and SPAM need no refrigeration, they're a joy to take on camping trips, delicious "as is" or quickly sizzled to cook-out glory. So, Dad, pour on the charcoal, light your fire. Mom, put these famous products on your shopping list.

Try these can-venient ideas soon!

KABOBS—Spork and Spam style!

For each serving, thread on skewer thick juicy square of SPAM, chunk of Mozzarella cheese, slice of green pickle, savory rosy cube of SPORK, a large whole mushroom, a tiny cherry tomato. Broil over hot coals 10-20 minutes, basting occasionally with your favorite Italian salad dressing. Doubly good, taste-tempting with BURNS SPORK and SPAM.

DOUBLE TREAT BURGERS

Cut thick juicy slices of SPORK and SPAM. Baste with your favorite barbecue sauce. Layer with onion slices and relish on hamburger buns spread with mustard. Watch the kids go for these . . . and they're so easy to make and so economical with all meat SPORK and SPAM.

BAR-B-Q BUNDLES

For each serving take generous double-thickness of aluminum foil. Place large thick juicy slice of SPORK and SPAM in the centre, add a canned sweet potato, stalks of asparagus (placed lengthwise), thick slice of apple (or pineapple). Season potato and vegetable with Worcestershire sauce, sprinkle brown sugar on fruit. Seal foil with double fold. Place on barbecue over hot coals. Let cook about an hour. Open up . . . mmmmm here's a truly wonderful SPORK and SPAM barbecue treat!

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

NEW YORK — We'll slug this one "Unhappy Anniversary," O.K.?

That's what it turned out to be for that internationally-known crew-cut crooner whom I'm going to call Charlie Remorse.

Don't try to figure out who it is—you'll only succeed. And this is supposed to be one of those "blind" stories.

But heck, it's really not even near-sighted. You know the guy! Very likeable, nothing phony, you've heard him a few thousand times on TV and records, and in the smart saloons. We all like Charlie Remorse—everybody but Mrs. Charlie Remorse.

It was their anniversary, see, at their expensive new home that his gold records built, and he had succeeded in getting out of all his night club dates, to get home to be with her.

He helped her to some of the imported vino and he looked at the kids asleep and the swimming pool that was paid for, and he had some more vino, and he got talkative.

And he got honest. "It's wonderful being home here"—he looked into the crackling fireplace and poured himself some more grape—"so wonderful that I'm not going to do that any more."

"Do what any more?" Mrs. Remorse said.

"Play around!" blurted Charlie Remorse. "A guy gets so lonesome on trips. Honey, I wanted you to know I have played a little. I feel better for telling you. But I never will any more."

Well, I don't need to tell a worldly person like you that good old Charlie had pulled the greatest goof of his life.

Mrs. Charlie ordered him out of the house—on his anniversary yet—took it away from him—won't let him see the kids—grabbed his money... won't even let him in his swimming pool, not even to drown himself in.

Charlie Remorse thinks in domestic matters honesty isn't always the best policy.

FOR THE FOURTH TIME in nine months actress Marilyn Monroe is in hospital. The sexy blonde was carried into New York polyclinic Wednesday on a stretcher after being taken from her apartment in an ambulance. She was accompanied by her former husband, Joe DiMaggio. Her ailment is described as a "mild intestinal disorder."

Actor's Death To Be Probed

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Gordon Cumming, chief of the bureau of hospitals in California, said Wednesday night the state department of public health will investigate the death of actor Jeff Chandler.

Cumming said the department has the authority to investigate hospital standards, not the medical care given to a patient.

Cumming said there was no reason to believe Chandler's death resulted from malpractice. He said the investigation would be routine and in compliance with requests.

A group of Hollywood actors and actresses, headed by TV star Clint Walker, is asking for an inquiry into the June 17 death of Chandler following a series of operations. He was 42.

PROWLER'S HAND LIKE MITT

Minor scratches were the only injuries suffered by a city woman early Wednesday morning after an attack in her bedroom by a prowler.

Elizabeth Skinner, 1808 Chestnut, was awakened by the man entering the room and screamed after he had tried to quiet her by putting his hand over her mouth, scratching her cheek in the process.

City police were called minutes after the incident and searched the area without results.

"I don't know what he looked like," said Miss Skinner, "but he had a hand like a baseball mitt."

Citizens' Proposals Impractical

City public works committee turned down two suggestions from citizens Wednesday as desirable but impractical.

First concerned a proposal from ex-Mayor Claude Harrison for traffic improvements at the Roundabout and along Douglas, including construction of underpasses.

City engineer J. C. Garnett said an underpass through the Fountain Circle "certainly would give some improvement but it would cost $1,000,000 and we would get much better value by building the Blanshard Street extension."

The other suggestion—for painted centre lines on sidewalks so foot traffic would be encouraged to keep to the right—came from a Saanich resident.

"It might do some good but it isn't practical," said Ald. Michael Griffin.

"There's enough regimentation already," said Ald. J. L. W. McLean.

Beecham Estate

LONDON (Reuters) — Sir Thomas Beecham, world-famous conductor and heir to a patent-medicine fortune who died three months ago at 81, left a net personal estate of £3,498 ($9,804), the London Daily Telegraph says. He had given generous gifts to the music world, the paper said.

EICHMANN CLAIMS

Himmler Wanted Old Jews Alive

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—Adolf Eichmann today said Gestapo chief Heinrich Himmler twice rejected Nazi proposals to send 5,000 elderly Jews to the Auschwitz death camp.

The former SS lieutenant-colonel, charged with complicity in the slaughter of 6,000,000 Jews, said Himmler wanted the elderly Jews "to go on living in peace and die" at a "showplace" concentration camp.

The proposals to transfer the 5,000 from the model concentration camp at Theresienstadt, which Eichmann termed "very close" to Himmler's heart, came from local Nazis in Bohemia and Moravia, he said.

Eichmann also called "untrue" a post-war Red Cross report which listed him as the "holder of a key position in the concentration camps' administration."

Complainant Apologizes To Magistrate

Mrs. Gloria Boyko, 128 Michigan, apologized Wednesday to Magistrate William Ostler for her action in court Tuesday which brought a contempt of court citation.

Mrs. Boyko was cited for refusing to testify in an assault case in which she was complainant.

The magistrate accepted the apology and said she was "free to go."

Beforehand Mrs. Boyko testified in the case against Kenneth Harris, of the same address, charged with assault causing bodily harm.

Harris—he denied the charge—was convicted and fined $100 and put on a bond of $200 to be of good behavior for a year.

The pronghorn antelope of southern Alberta and Saskatchewan is smaller than deer, weighing from 100 to 125 pounds.

HAD NO AUTHORITY

"I had no position and no authority whatsoever," the 55-year-old Eichmann asserted from his bullet-proof glass prisoner's box.

Eichmann, in his eight days of testimony in his own defence, has drawn repeated rebukes from presiding Judge Moshe Landau for being too wordy in his replies to questions.

Today Landau rapped Eichmann's West German lawyer, Robert Servatius, for asking the kind of questions which elicited lengthy answers.

Bapco proudly offers 3 'years-ahead' paints for 'right-now' people!

1 THE NEW IDEA IN LATEX

Semi-Gloss finish!

Semi-Gloss is the ideal finish for trim and doors. Latex is the ideal paint. Now Bapco has coupled the qualities of each to bring you a revolutionary new product. No more leaving the windows open for hours until the sash dries. No more messy clean-up chores. When you use a flat Latex paint on walls and ceilings, here's the matching paint for trim.

BATHROOMS AND KITCHENS

Enamel finish in Latex paint!

Semi-Gloss enamel is the popular finish today for bathroom and kitchens. With Bapco semi-gloss Latex you get a satin-lustrous enamel-like finish with all speed and ease of application you have come to expect from a Latex paint. Goes on with brush or roller. No brush marks, no lap marks.

DRIES IN TWENTY MINUTES

Use your room the same day!

No more waiting hours for the trim to dry. You get just time for a cup of coffee after you paint with Bapco semi-gloss Latex. Then start right in to move the furniture back. And, best of all, no unpleasant paint odour.

COLORS GALORE

Created by Faber Birren for Westerners!

Bapco are rushing exciting Faber Birren-styled colors into production. Colors that match Bapco's velvet flat Latex finish. Colors that stay bright and new—washable colors that don't have to be babied. After the new paint has cured for as little as two weeks you can remove finger marks or smudges as easily as you would wash a window.

NO MESSY CLEAN-UP

Water does the trick!

As you would expect from a Latex paint the final job of cleaning up is made simple. Just a swish under the tap for brush or roller and they come out as clean as a whistle.

2 THE NEW IDEA IN PORCH & PATIO PAINT

Latex!

A new Bapco formulation that gives you all the advantages that you have come to expect in Latex, plus the performance you have been looking for in a Porch & Patio paint. Now here is THE PAINT for porches, walk-ways, steps, patios, basement floors and for any other cement area that's going to get traffic.

GAY COLORS TO WALK ON

Faber Birren has done it again!

Bapco's famous New York color consultant has created new colors for this wonderful new paint. Gay colors that you would expect to find on a color card for interior Latex. Glowing terra cotta, light-hearted shades of green and cool greys... and all the sun, snow and driving rain won't wash away their freshness.

MAKES THE JOB EASIER

Flows on with brush or roller!

Because Bapco Porch and Patio paint is Latex it goes on smoother, quicker—without a trace of brush mark or lap. No sticky drag to slow you down or tire you. Less surface preparation than with ordinary paints. And no chore to the clean-up. A quick rinse under the tap for brush or roller is all that's required.

DRIES WHILE YOUR LOOKING AT IT

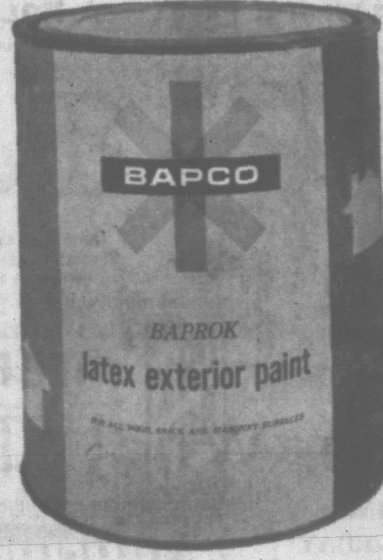

No wet paint signs required!

No barricades either. Bapco Porch & Patio paint dries in less than an hour. Before the dust and bugs have time to find your new paint job. Bapco Porch & Patio paint is set. In a couple of hours you can walk all over it.

TRY THIS NEW PAINT THIS WEEK-END

You're Bapco dealer has it!

Find him in the Yellow Pages of your phone book... under Paint, Retail Dealers. Try this new Porch & Patio paint, another quality product of Bapco research.

3 SENSATIONAL PAINT CREATION

Tested in use for six years!

Originally introduced in 1955 this new idea in exterior paints has undergone rigorous "on the job" testing in all kinds of western weather. Specified by architects and engineers for large industrial projects, preferred by painting contractors for economy and customer satisfaction.

FOR WOOD, CONCRETE, BRICK, MASONRY OR STUCCO

One paint does the whole job!

No need to switch paints when you switch from wood siding to above-grade masonry. No color-matching problems. Baprok Exterior Latex covers every exterior wall surface... beautifully.

THE PAINT THAT BREATHES

Lets moisture vapor escape!

Baprok Exterior Latex paint actually seals most surfaces, yet lets the surface breathe. Baprok never chips off, never gets brittle, never flakes or peels. And you can actually paint on damp surfaces... no need to wait for hot dry weather. Dries so fast you can do two coats without moving scaffolding.

BERMUDA COLORS

Styled by Faber Birren!

Bermuda White, 12 standard shades and 8 easy mix blends are available at your Bapco Dealer. Colors that you can brush on, roll on or spray on evenly, effortlessly. Colors that set quickly. Colors that keep their "just painted" look for years. Colors that love the outdoor life.

CLEAN UP IN MINUTES

Latex makes it so convenient!

When you stop for a coffee-break... just wash hands with soap and water. When the job is finished, water is all you need to flush Latex from brush, roller or spraygun. No need for turps. No special cleaners of any kind.

Many Shed Tear for Yesteryear as Ancient Cars Roll By

GLEAMING IN THE SUNSHINE, 88 antique autos jostled a lively route around the waterfront today to the great satisfaction of Victorians from two to 92.

At centre, Mrs. Frank Hallmeyer shows a seemly calf (and button boot) on the running board of a 1915 "lizzie," and pretty

Mrs. Gale Wilson, Lewiston, Idaho, tries her hand at winding hubby's 1912 Ford, to get "show on the road."—(Times Photos by Bill Halkett.)

... HERE AND THERE ... With NORMAN CRIBBENS

A Saanich schoolteacher phoned me about the current dispute over dietary experiments on rats now being conducted in our schools.

She says her students learned a valuable lesson from one of these experiments, which showed that whereas the over-fed rats became fat and lazy the under-fed rodents grew sharp, agile and clever.

They learned, not only to open the doors of their own cages, but how to get into the cages of the fat rats and share their superior provisions.

And the fat rats, it seems, were too lazy to stop them.

A reader assures me that Dugald Donaghy, whose 1913 car licence plate was found in a Victoria garden this week, is still very much alive.

Now in the 80s, he is a Queen's Counsel of many years standing and continues to practice law in Vancouver.

Do you tie your own bow tie?

If you don't you're a "boulder" in the opinion of bow-tied J. Edward Searle, who originated in Cirencester (pronounced "Cister"), lives in Vancouver but prefers Victoria.

"My father taught me to tie a bow tie," he recalls. "He would have killed me if I'd worn a clip-on or a tie-on."

Frightfully bad form, what!

Victorians had to be versatile in the old days.

Harry Crowther of 2607 Douglas showed me a city directory of 1887 in which Charles Hayward was listed as undertaker, pipefitter, builder—and proprietor of the Pioneer Steam Sawmill and Sash Factory.

Newest phenomena from Ottawa—a press release stating that Ireland's Ambassador to Canada, Hon. William P. Fay, will visit Vancouver June 30 and continue by train to Victoria.

That will be quite an achievement.

Brass 'n Bows Win Hearts Of Spectators

By AB KENT

For sheer brass—and polish—the antique car buff is hard to beat.

And for sheer fun, put 88 of them and their glittering masterpieces in a sunny June parade, proving that everyone from pensioners to school children has a spot in his heart for the "tin lizzie."

Object of all the attention this morning was a delegation from the annual convention in Seattle of the Horseless Carriage Club of America, spending two days here.

They paraded their spotless, pre-1916 autos through the city, along the waterfront and through Saanich to Butchart Gardens, drawing fond looks, laughs and school kids' cheers all the way.

POPULAR VISITORS

"Is this ever fun," and "They're sure a nice bunch of people," were typical remarks from the throng that gathered at Empress Hotel before parade time.

Keen-eyed oldsters remembered days when the cars were new, young men marvelled at the perfect condition of the cars, thoroughly restored by paint, mechanical work and hundreds of hours of tinkering.

Women seemed just as intrigued, and for them a fashion note was an added filip—the fashions of the First World War, worn both by the owners, their wives, and in some cases, their families.

TOW TRUCKS, TOO

Most of the northern U.S. was represented in the entourage, carrying with it a radio-telephone-equipped field car from the American Automobile Association, two heavy duty wreckers with mobile repair facilities, and a truck chassis-mounted San Francisco cable car.

From the way the autos behaved today, none needed emergency attention, or even a push to get them speeding along the pavement—even up the steep hill from Crescent Road to King George Terrace en route through Oak Bay.

CRACKED FOR FUN

Nostalgia was heavy for some. A Victorian watched Frank Hallmeyer of Olympia, Wash., cranking his 1915 Ford.

"Can I wind it up for you?" he asked a little wistfully, and with a couple of pulls got the trembling auto pulling like a pussy.

"I can't remember the last time I did that," he said, and departed fulfilled.

Hallmeyer said he worked on the Ford six months to get it ready for the tour.

ANNIVERSARY ON ROAD

He brought his wife along and they spent their 36th wedding anniversary on the road Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lobbe, regt, Issaquah, Wash., drove the only known operating 1912 Abbot touring car, one of 15 owned and restored by them.

But the king of the tour was millionaire Reno gambling proprietor Bill Harrah, with eight cars on the road. At home had another 422 of them at last count, keeping a staff of 33 men busy restoring and tuning.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Sussexvale, Ste. Therese, Stettler, Antigonish, Beacon Hill, New Glasgow and Jonquiere return Friday at 10 p.m. Assiniboine, Skeena, Margaree return July 13, 11 a.m.

Lithographers' Seven-Man Vote Threatens Plant

Seven members of the Lithographers' Union will vote on strike action Friday which could result in a shutdown for one of Victoria's commercial printing plants.

The men are employed by Colonist Lithographers Ltd., and last week they rejected a majority conciliation board award of five cents an hour wage increase.

The lithographers were expelled recently from the Canadian Labor Congress for raiding tactics.

A conciliation award would have brought their wages to $2.86 an hour until May 1, 1962.

In Vancouver—the parent local for other units in the province—the rate now is $2.91 and will be $3 an hour Nov. 1.

Victoria Daily Times

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, JUNE 29, 1961—PAGE 17

Holiday Crowds Get 'All Clear'

Weather mixture felt in Victoria for the last few days may be the forerunner of a pleasant weekend, according to weatherman William Mackie.

"We expect this mixture of sun and cloud to continue into Friday, and another weather system in sight may give us rain Friday night and early Saturday," he said. "Starting Saturday morning, we expect an improving trend which may continue through Saturday and Sunday."

FIRST RAIN

Rain early this morning varied from .01 to .06 inch, depending on the location, Mr. Mackie said. It was the first rain since June 10, with the exception of a trace early Wednesday morning.

"There is the strong possibility of rain or showers to night too," he said.

VACATION SERVICE

Meanwhile, thousands of vacationers are getting ready to take off, and will find travel facilities all ready for them.

Starting Friday, the government ferry service will begin operating at 5 a.m., and will complete the last of 10 round trips between Sidney and Tsawwassen, from each side, at 1 a.m. The schedule will be observed until Sept. 5.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines will add an extra trip to Vancouver, leaving at 10.10 p.m., also starting Friday and ending Sept. 5.

The company will not change its schedule on the weekend, but will add extra buses as required.

"No one will be left behind," an official said.

Trans-Canada Air Lines will add one round trip to Seattle and Vancouver Friday.

"Because of the holiday coming on a Saturday, we are expecting only our normal weekend traffic," a company spokesman said.

CPR will continue its regular Seattle service, with a steamer leaving there every day at 8 a.m., arriving here at 11.50, then leaving here at 5 for a 9 p.m. arrival in Seattle.

Former Banker 'Jimmie' Thow Ill In Hospital

James C. Thow, 61, former manager of the main Victoria branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, was reported gravely ill at St. Joseph's Hospital today.

He was taken to hospital from his home at 1021 Gillespie Place two weeks ago.

Mr. Thow retired last August after 13 years as manager of the main Victoria branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MAYBE 'NEVER ON SUNDAY' FOR COIN-STAMP MACHINES

Victoria postal authorities are awaiting word from Ottawa on legality of stamp vending machines on Sundays.

A Supreme Court ruling this week prohibited coin-operated handcrank machines from opening, and legal experts believe all coin machines may be affected.

However, Victoria postmaster Al Davies said all stamp machines would have to be modified if the Sunday blue law were stretched to include them. At present there is no way to seal them.

There are 20 machines in the Victoria postal district. A Vancouver official says he has written to Ottawa asking for a ruling.

"We're just going to sit tight and wait for word from headquarters," said Mr. Davies.

Union Threatens Legal Action

Threat of legal action for unfair labor practice was made today by an international representative of store clerks dealing with F. W. Woolworth Ltd. employees.

Philip Cave, Coquitlam, said he is trying to organize about 120 members of two Victoria stores into Retail Clerks' International Association, Local 151A.

He is also dealing with a Port Alberni situation, in which 21 union members are about to start the third week of a Woolworth strike.

The company will not negotiate with the union and threatened employees with their jobs if they struck, he said.

INTIMIDATION

"We are seriously considering laying unfair labor practice charges against Woolworth's. We feel this is gross intimidation," Cave said.

Any attempt to organize in the Victoria stores has been met with failure because the clerks are afraid for their jobs, Cave said.

He said the store told the union in Vancouver it proposed to hold a meeting of Port Alberni clerks to tell them "if they voted for strike they were closing the store and they would lose their jobs."

"I'm willing to meet with the management and staff of these two Victoria stores at any time, any place to discuss the true facts of the Port Alberni situation," Cave said today.

Juvenile's Plea Ends Police Work On Eight Thefts

Investigation started more than two months ago by city detectives culminated Wednesday in the appearance of a juvenile in family court.

The youth entered pleas of guilty to eight charges of breaking and entering and theft and was remanded in custody for a week for probation report and sentence.

Credit for the arrest, after weeks of investigation, was given to juvenile officer Walter Caldwell and identification officer B. B. Brennan.

The first of eight break-ins occurred at a laundromat April 16 and the crimewave ended June 24 when the youth entered Sandy's Auto Wrecking, 1023 View.

Total amount of loot taken from coin changers, washing and drying machines, soft drink dispensers and cigarette machines was estimated by detectives at $700.

Sunset Ceremony

Rainbow Sea Cadets will perform the last Sunset Ceremony of the summer on the lawns of the Legislative Buildings Friday at approximately 8.40 p.m.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

An RCAF request for permission to air-drop leaflets over Victoria Aug. 5 was sent to city council by its finance committee today, without recommendation.

The leaflets would publicize Air Force Day events at Comox airfield Aug. 13.

Last year council made a policy of prohibiting air drops but Ald. Curtis said he would like to see the air force supported, "but there is one unfortunate aspect to this—the police just started their anti-litter campaign yesterday."

General meeting of Victoria Horticultural Society will be held in the council chamber at City Hall, Tuesday at 7.30 p.m.

Judges at the recent summer show will discuss the merits and shortcomings of entries in their respective sections to provide guidance for exhibitors in the fall show, Sept. 15 and 16.

The annual awards ceremony of Mount Douglas High School will be held in the school gymnasium at 8 p.m. today.

ASK The TIMES

Q. What happened to the Seven Wonders of the World?

A. Of the original seven, only the Pyramids of Egypt remain. The Temple of Diana at Ephesus was destroyed by the Goths in 262; and only fragments remain of the tomb of Mausolus at Halicarnassus. There is no trace of the Hanging Gardens of Babylon. The statue of Zeus carved by Phidias out of marble, gold and ivory was destroyed by fire. Both the Colossus of Rhodes and the Pharos Lighthouse were destroyed by earthquakes.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times," Editor, Questions and Answers, will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve controversies or legal problems. Not will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society will hold a picnic on Saturday at 11 a.m. in Mt. Douglas Park.

A 16-year-old boy was transferred from juvenile to city court today and entered a plea of guilty to theft of goods worth $51.60.

Michael Walter Kazakoff was remanded to July 7 for probation report and sentence after admitting he took $50 in United States currency, worth $51.60, from the home of Sidney John Rayden, 216 Vancouver, June 23.

Police said he gained admittance by saying he had an injured ankle and, after being given treatment there left in a taxi.

Mr. Rayden then discovered the money missing from his daughter's bag.

The youth left the Island by government ferry but was arrested by RCMP as he stepped ashore at Tsawwassen on the mainland.

A dinner meeting of the Victoria Hotel Association at the Dominion Hotel Tuesday was highlighted by a talk given by William Dow, Victoria Centennial Celebrations Committee director.

Mr. Dow gave the hotelmen and their wives a preview of events for Victoria's centennial year, 1962.

City finance committee today recommended a second try this year to obtain Union of B.C. Municipalities' approval for putting a deadline on civic unions negotiating wage agreements with municipalities.

City finance committee today confirmed a suggested $15,000 asking price for two lots behind the Cook Street health and welfare centre which has been proposed as a joint Greater Victoria juvenile detention home site by inter-municipal committee.

Permission to hold a tag day was denied the women's auxiliary to the Fraternal Order of Eagles by the city today because it missed the deadline for such requests earlier this year.

Concurrent sentences of two years less a day in prison for each of 14 charges of theft were given John W. McLeod, 1263 Blanshard, in city police court today.

Police said the total amount of money taken from B.C. Venture Products Ltd., 859 Devonshire, where he worked, was $1,871. Dates of the offences ranged from Dec. 4, 1960, to May 11 of this year.

McLeod has entered pleas of guilty to all 14 charges Tuesday.

An official verdict of death by drowning was handed down by Victoria city coroner Dr. J. H. Moore after an autopsy last week on an Esquimalt sailor.

The Navy said Leading Seaman Ralph Collins, 2036 Wellesley, was skin diving in South Pender Island waters June 20 when he was seen to be in trouble.

Efforts to revive him aboard his ship, HMCS Sussexvale, en route to Sidney were unsuccessful.

A talk by A. Gorse, "Is Prophecy Being Fulfilled Today?" will be sponsored by the Victoria Branch of the British Israel World Federation (Canada) on Monday at 8 p.m. in the Newstead Hall.

SCOTTISH AWARD FOR ROSS

Ex-Lieutenant-Governor Off to Receive Degree

Ex-Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Frank Ross will leave Vancouver next Tuesday for Aberdeen where Mr. Ross will be given an LL.D. degree by the University of Aberdeen.

A native of Aberdeen, Mr. Ross migrated to Canada 51 years ago. He retired from the office of lieutenant-governor last October after five years' service.

On July 13 Mr. and Mrs. Ross will return to Antigonish, Nova Scotia, for celebrations marking the 170th anniversary of the landing of Scotsmen from the Western Isles.

On that day Saint Francis Xavier University will confer doctor of laws degrees on Mr. Ross, Sir Compton Mackenzie and Sister Saint Veronica, sister of the late Hon. Angus MacDonald.

Mr. Ross will speak on the imprint that Scottish immigration has made on Canada.

Neighbors Will Bless Use Of a Silent Dog Whistle!

By PENNY SAVER

Big news with Penny this week is her dog, a 7-month-old pup, a delightful creature that has been described as "part Alsatian and part nasturtium." Seriously, though, he has Afghan blood in him, and his long black nose and platinum blond flop-ears excuse the rest of him. This time, Penny did her shopping at the SPCA, and, for $5, went home with "Cholmondeley."

But a dog requires many things, I found, so made a visit to a Victoria pet shop, where silent dog whistles are selling for $1.50 each.

These can be tuned to the note your dog will respond to, and locked in this position. This has side advantages: it can't possibly annoy the neighbors!

Another must for the pup who lacks etiquette is a can of repellent to keep him off shrubs, flower beds, even garbage cans. This brand can easily be sprayed on, and one application lasts through all weather for one week. A can is priced at $2.50, giving a year's supply.

An excellent item which is new to Victoria is combination plastic dog brush and flea powder. Teeth on the brush are open at the end, so that powder comes out as you brush the dog. Automatically, powder reaches deep to the skin. Brushes are 95c each. The same item has been especially prepared for cats also, at the same price.

If you would like to know where Penny shopped today, please give her a ring at EV 2-3131.

THE BETTER HALF

By Bob Barnes

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I suppose that we never know when we are well off, but there are times when I would settle for less rain. Of course, when it's hot and dry, rain is a welcome relief. But not long ago I thought we had had enough rain for a lifetime, and even enough for all of the farmers all over the world, forever.

We had been trying to paint the floor of our porch for weeks, but did not have 48 hours without rain. So—we couldn't put the porch furniture out. We couldn't plant flowers, either, for fear they would drown.

I have formed the habit of keeping a pair of rain shoes in my car, no matter what the weather bureau says. I also have a very glamorous umbrella so that I can save my hairdo if a sudden downpour occurs.

Oh, well, nobody is ever satisfied with the weather. It is either too cold or too hot or too windy or too humid. The weather has a long history of providing conversation when other conversation stops. We should give thanks to the weather for this—or should we?

Anyway, this habitual and continual dissatisfaction with the weather reminds me of a woman's continual dissatisfaction with her figure. No matter how good either the weather or the figure is, there always is something wrong with it. Women with lovely figures worry about a little hollow here or a tiny bit of fat there.

Let us not be too hard to please but rather do what we can about both the weather and our figures. Cope with the weather with fans and air-conditioning, or heat and heating pads and electric blankets—and cope with the figure with diet and exercise. Unless we do something about it, we have not earned the right to howl.

If you would like to have leaflet No. 57 "Grace and Charm" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Mrs. Giles Installed

Flowers in chapter's colors of red, purple and gold added to impressive installation ceremonies of Victoria Chapter No. 25, Women of the Moose, in Dulcie's Banquet Hall, Mrs. D. Giles was installed senior regent. Other officers are: Junior regent, Mrs. M. Jones; junior graduate regent, Mrs. M. Iott; chaplain, Mrs. I. Fraser; recorder, Mrs. G. Priddie; treasurer, Mrs. M. Marsh; guide, Mrs. E. Hansen; assistant guide, Mrs. G. Norris; Argus, Mrs. R. Jones and pianist, Mrs. R. Thompson.

Installing officers were Mrs. H. Brine, Mrs. M. Kirkwood, Mrs. A. Bird, Miss I. Norris and Miss D. Guelpha.

Under ritual director, Mrs. A. Hopley, women, dressed in white and carrying nosegays of roses and orchids on gold ribbon backgrounds, and men dressed in black trousers, white shirts and black bow ties, carried out floor work.

Mrs. Iott presented pin to Mrs. M. Kirkwood to mark completion of her term as junior graduate regent.

Mrs. R. Thompson received a music case in appreciation of 15 years as pianist. Retiring officers, Mrs. M. Rimer, Mrs. E. Vermiere and Mrs. B. Stevens received gifts. Mrs. Giles made a presentation to Mrs. Iott, outgoing senior regent.

Extending best wishes were Mrs. M. Jacques, Seattle; colleagues, V. Warren and D. Fairhurst; junior governor of Lodge No. 1390, W. Fraser and J. Johnstone, Maple Leaf Legion. Refreshments were served, followed by dancing.

DEAR ABBY

His Taste Is Jaded!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband of nine years doesn't believe in kissing. He says it is unsanitary. He wasn't bothered by this unsanitation before we were married. I don't know whether you can believe this or not, but he is by nature a very affectionate person. He is always hugging and squeezing me, and he shows me a lot of devotion, but he just skips the kissing part. How can I get him to kiss me?

DEAR ABBY: My teen-aged daughter is simply driving me crazy. She has one of the most beautiful heads of hair you could ever hope to see—but the way she wears it is just terrible. It is all ratted and matted and stiff with spray. It looks like a wig. And she looks like an old lady. She is only 17, Abby, and this is something she and I have been going around about for almost a year. Do you think I should let her do what she wants with her hair? She would be strikingly beautiful if only she would take my word on how to fix her hair.

DEAR MOM: A teen-ager's mom has so much to "go around" about when it comes to turning out her daughter, you would be wise not to split hairs. Let her fix her hair the way she wants to. She has to please herself, not you. Use your energy to make her "beautiful" on the inside.

Here From India

Mrs. Lillian Munro, Vancouver, and her sister-in-law, Miss Anne Munro, spent Wednesday in Victoria visiting friends. Miss Munro arrived in the United States in early May from India where she served as a missionary for the Canadian Baptist Missions in Serangoon, in the province of Orissa. She came to Vancouver in June and plans to spend three years in Canada while her adopted daughter, Miss Wendy Munro, takes post-graduate work at Wills' Eye Hospital in Philadelphia. Miss Munro plans to travel east to visit relatives and friends in Toronto and Montreal.

Wed In Trenton

News has been received of the recent marriage of Miss Wendy Lynnett Birkenhead, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Birkenhead, 3681 Kathleen Street, to LAC Armand Frank Lavalley, RCAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lavalley of Wapella, Sask. The wedding took place in the Protestant chapel, RCAF Station, Trenton, Ont., with Rev. R. P. Condon, RCAF, officiating. LAC Glen Goodridge, RCAF, was best man, and Mrs. Goodridge was matron of honor. Grey mink trimmed the resplendent green wool suit worn by the bride. She complemented her ensemble with a white flowered bandeau and white accessories. The newlyweds are now making their home in Trenton.

Solarium Tours

Members of the press were taken on tours of the Queen Alexandra Solarium, Wednesday. Morning tour was hosted at a luncheon in the board room while afternoon guests were served tea prior to touring the establishment at Gordon Head. Their hosts were Mr. John S. Heldstock, administrator; Col. A. D. Murdoch, building and grounds chairman on the board of directors; Mrs. Nona Damaske, publicity chairman for the board and Mrs. Sheila Curtis, public relations chairman for the Solarium Junior League.

Farewell Tea

Mrs. E. Bilby was guest of honor at a small farewell tea in the Cordova Bay Road home of Mrs. I. Thorner recently. Invited guests included Mrs. D. Lyle, Mrs. J. M. McPherson, Mrs. P. Lewis, Mrs. W. Savage, Miss P. Munro and Miss M. Savage. Mrs. Bilby, together with her son Christopher has spent the past two and a half months visiting her daughter, Mrs. Lyle, in her home on Pandora Avenue. The visitors will be leaving shortly to return to their home in London, Eng.

Mrs. Louis, Fallows, seated left, who recently celebrated her 101st birthday at Sunset Lodge, where she lives, was head table guest at strawberry tea held by the lodge auxiliary, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Stuart Keate, seated at right, opened the affair. Standing from the left, are Mrs. E. G. Eckman, Brig. Miss Alice Mansell, and Mrs. A. J. Campbell.

Strawberry Tea

Tea tables, gay with summer flowers, were placed in the lounge and hallway at Salvation Army's Sunset Lodge Wednesday afternoon for a strawberry tea arranged by the women's auxiliary. Receiving guests was the auxiliary president, Mrs. W. G. Eckman, and the lodge matron, Brig. Miss Alice Mansell.

Brig. Mansell leaves the lodge this weekend to return to New Westminster, where she will be married in July. Her future home will be in Flin Flon, Man.

Mrs. Stuart Keate, wife of the chairman for recent Salvation Army drive for funds for new Sunset Lodge home, opened the affair. She was introduced by Mrs. Eckman and was presented with a corsage of white carnations by Mrs. A. Bowbyes. Corsages were also presented to Mrs. A. J. Campbell, head of the women's division for the drive, by Mrs. S. Hulford and to Mrs. Louisa Fallows, oldest resident in the lodge, and to Brig. Mansell, by Miss Anna McBride.

Others assisting with arrangements for the tea and a home cooking stall were Mrs. T. Helges, Mrs. G. White, Mrs. J. Mahood and Major A. Saunders.

HOME FREEZERS

add APPEAL to every MEAL

Home freezers are a welcome addition to the modern home. They provide perfect storage space for many favorite foods. They are time-savers, and with proper management are money-savers as well.

Preparing most foods for frozen storage is easier than preserving or canning methods... and you'll find foods remain more flavorful. Much nutritive value lost by canning or heat-preserving methods is retained by efficient freezing.

Freezers are available in several sizes and styles. Your appliance dealer will be helpful in showing you the various models.

Closing of Centre Marked by Dinner

Eleven young adults, all aged 18 years or more, gave a dinner party, Wednesday evening, in the Elford Occupation Centre of the Greater Victoria Association for the Retarded. The affair marked the closing of activities for the summer and the guests were parents and friends.

On arrival, the guests were greeted by Mrs. Winifred M. Clarke, executive director of the association, and Miss Eileen Edgar, program supervisor. Each guest was presented with a corsage made by the young hosts.

These were Mary, Beverley,

Judith, Eleanor, Joan, Donna, Edward, Hamish, Aubrey and Victor. Under supervision, they had shopped, planned and served the meal of colorful salads, cold meats, pickles, raspberry shortcake and coffee. Highlight was the delicious home-baked brown bread made by Edward.

MUSICAL TREAT

After dinner, the young hosts entertained with a program of percussion music and, like all proud housekeepers, took delight in showing guests over their "home".

Focal point of the tour was the handicrafts room, where Mrs. C. Marryatt supervises making of hooked rugs, sewing and other items.

Also of interest was the kindergarten room where two newcomers, Paddy, three, and Buddy, six, are taught basic routines. Kindergarten was started this month.

Although today marks close of daily activities, regular Wednesday recreation evenings for the young adults will continue through July.

Prairie Drought Worst Since 1930s, Says PM

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker told the Commons today that drought conditions on the Prairies now are approaching the conditions of the mid-1930s.

"The problems that the Western farmer now faces is one of those that exercise the hearts of men," he said.

Mr. Diefenbaker was asked by Jack McIntosh (PC-Swift Current, Maple Creek) to report on crop conditions following his visit Wednesday to Saskatchewan and a refuelling stop at Winnipeg during which he conferred with local authorities.

"Generally speaking, the situation is one of grave seriousness," he said. "Every endeavor will be made to meet the situation."

REGINA (CP)—The weather office said at noon today that thunderstorms over southeastern and southern Saskatchewan may give the area a quarter-inch rainfall. The area is the hardest hit by the present drought.

He recalled that the federal government has agreed to pay half the cost of moving fodder into the Prairies and of moving cattle to summer pastures outside the drought area.

But even this will not be enough, he added. Cattle will have to be sold.

School Out: 27,000 'At Liberty'

School's out today for more than 27,000 pupils in southern Vancouver Island and it will never be the same again for them.

Instruction formally ended at 3 p.m.

When it resumes Sept. 5, the youngsters will be going back to longer hours and more days in a tougher system.

Next school year will be two days longer and the teaching day will be 15 minutes longer.

Other changes that will be introduced gradually as a result of the Chant Commission on Education will see basic courses enriched, new text books and a new emphasis on intellectual development of the students.

Meantime, the pupils will enjoy their summer vacation—except for most mothers and some students who will be going to summer school.

Greater Victoria district's summer timetable calls for:

July 7—Registration for summer classes at Oak Bay Junior High.

July 10—Summer classes begin.

Aug. 4—Summer classes end.

Aug. 21—Supplemental examinations by the department of education begin.

Congo Summit Urged

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Katanga President Moise Tshombe said tonight he will send a delegation to the Leopoldville parliament only if the other Congo leaders meet him first in a summit meeting.

Deadly Ship Fire

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—A cargo of highly-explosive naphthalene caught fire in the forward hold of the Polish freighter Polonica today.

All civilians living and working in the area were ordered to leave and the ship was towed into the Delaware River and anchored there while fireboats fought the flames.

Floods Ravage Japan

TOKYO (AP)—Torrential rains, floods and landslides ravaged Japan for the fifth consecutive day today and the official toll jumped to 213 dead and 182 missing.

Man's Body Found

MONTREAL (CP)—Provincial police today were attempting to identify a man whose naked body was found with the head bashed in on a seldom-used side road 70 miles northwest of here.

3 Boys Digs in Fire

FORT FRANCIS, Ont. (CP)—Three small Fort Frances boys were found dead in a vacant house late Wednesday by firemen who were called to put out a blaze. Dead were Frank Horvath, 5, his brother, John, 4, and Billy Klymko, 5.

COYNE AFFAIR

Fleming Rejected Pay Boost

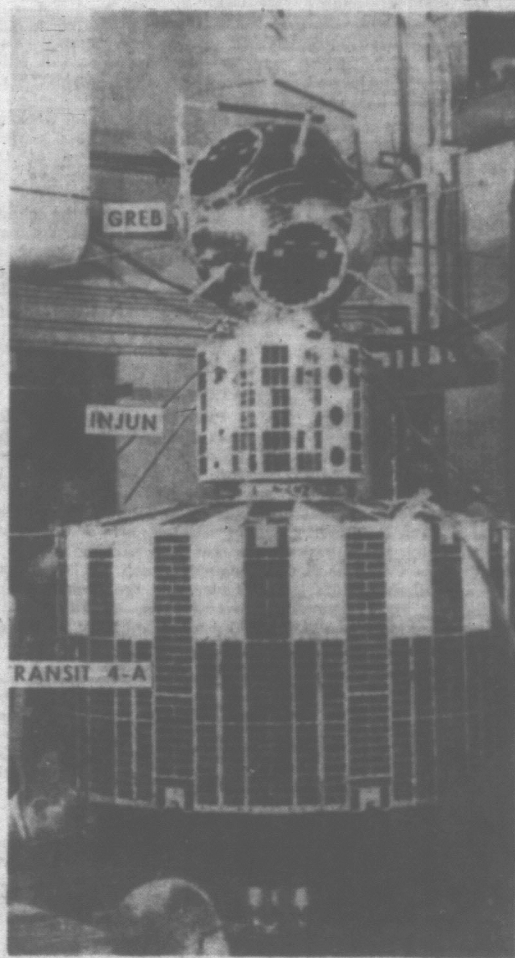

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Fleming rejected a pay increase for Governor James E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada when it was proposed Feb. 15, 1960, a source close to the minister said today.

The informant confirmed a statement in a letter by former bank director J. T. Bryden of Toronto, made public in Toronto Wednesday night, that only the question of salaries was discussed in a phone conversation that day between Mr. Fleming and a committee of the board.

It was reported that the board's proposal was for an increase in the salary ceiling to $75,000, with an immediate increase in Mr. Coyne's pay to $60,000.

Mr. Fleming has said one of the government's reasons for having sought the governor's resignation last month was that Mr. Coyne had not told the government of the action by the central bank directors increasing the governor's pension to $25,000 from $12,000.

In an open letter to Mr. Fleming on Monday, Mr. Coyne said Mr. Bryden had told the minister about a possible change in the provisions for the special pension six months before the increase was made.

'Curse of Pharaohs' Brings Death Again

LONDON (AP)—Another member of the British family said to be marked by the legendary curse of the pharaohs has died an unexpected death, the fourth in the family since 1929.

The death of Lord Westbury was announced today. He died four days ago in Geneva at the age of 46. The cause of death was not given.

His father, Capt. Richard Bethell, also died suddenly and at the same age.

Bethell had a hand in excavating the tomb of the pharaoh Tutankhamen in 1923. A curse on a tomb relic said, "Death shall come on swift wings to him that toucheth the tomb of the pharaohs."

Bethell died six years later. The next year his father, who kept relics from the tomb in his home, committed suicide. Bethell's widow killed herself five years ago.

Lord Westbury is survived by a brother and a sister.

First Clashes Reported

TEHRAN, Iran (Reuters) — British warships were reported heading for Kuwait today amid clashes in the oil-rich sheikdom and the adjoining Persian Gulf.

Reports from Kuwait said two British frigates are expected to arrive Friday to guard the oil refinery at Ahmadi after an abortive plot by Iraqis to sabotage it.

The British aircraft carrier HMS Bulwark was steaming toward the Persian Gulf with 600 Royal Marine commandos. Three other warships are on the move in the Far East.

The reports said Saudi Arabian troops arrived in Kuwait today and are patrolling the border with Iraq. More troops are expected to arrive from Jordan.

Meanwhile, Iraqi patrol boats were reported to have fired on Iranian motor launches taking food to Kuwait.

Other reports received in Tehran said a number of persons were severely injured when Kuwait and Iraqi merchant ships clashed in the market place in Kuwait's capital Wednesday.

TROOPS ON BORDER

The authoritative Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram reported today that Iraqi forces moved Wednesday to the borders of Kuwait, to which Iraqi Prime Minister Abdul Karim Kassam laid claim Sunday.

Quoting United Arab Republic official circles, the newspaper said two Iraqi brigades, fully armed and equipped, moved to the border of the oil-rich Persian Gulf sheikdom.

Iraq hinted Wednesday at an expansion of Premier Kassam's bid for annexation of Kuwait to all the oil-bearing regions on the Persian Gulf's west coast.

Radio Baghdad hoisted a trial balloon in the Middle East storm by declaring the Iraqi people are calling congratulations to Kassam on the move to "liberate Kuwait" and urging him to "save all the other rings in the chain of the Persian Gulf territories and return them to the Iraqi motherland."

These include Qatif and Ahassa, concession areas of the U.S.-owned Arabian-American Oil Company, and the British-protected sheikdoms of Qatar, Bahrain and Abu Dhabi.

The Baghdad government appeared unabashed by the vehement stand of such powers as Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Republic against the claim to Kuwait and backing of the sheikdom's sovereignty by Britain and the United States.

East-West Compromise Over Laos

GENEVA (UPI)—East and West moved toward compromise today on sending some equipment to the International Control Commission (ICC) for policing the shaky cease-fire in Laos.

British and Soviet co-chairmen of the 14-nation Laos peace conference met with representatives of the three-member ICC.

A British delegation spokesman said afterward the two-hour meeting found "sufficient common ground." But no final agreement was worked out on how many helicopters, light aircraft and ground transport vehicles would be supplied.

ABE CENSORED BY RIVAL AUTO FIRM

Lincoln a Naughty Word

NEW YORK (AP)—A television producer says the name of Abraham Lincoln was deleted from a TV drama because Lincoln also is the name of an automobile made by a competitor of the program's sponsor.

The producer, Ralph Nelson, testified Wednesday at a Federal Communications Commission hearing to determine if government control of TV programming is needed.

Nelson testified that the deletion of Lincoln's name occurred when he was producing a dramatization of The Andersonville Trial for the Climax series over the Columbia Broadcasting System network.

When the telecast first was proposed, Nelson said an executive for the advertising company, representing Chrysler, told him the sponsor was "very fearful of the program going through."

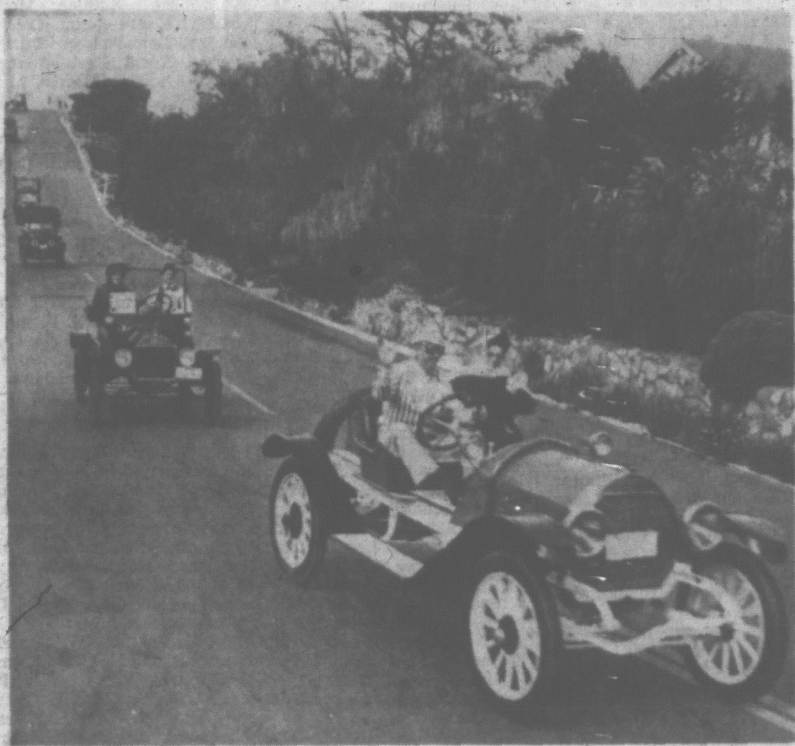

"We were asked never to refer to the president of the United States' name," Nelson said, "since it was the name of a rival car—so we did not."

Many Shed Tear for Yesteryear as Ancient Cars Roll By

GLEAMING IN THE SUNSHINE, 88 antique autos jostled a lively route around the waterfront today to the great satisfaction of Victorians from two to

92. At left they spin down King George Terrace on the way to Butchart Gardens. Tonight they will be on view at the Black Ball wharf for any who missed them this morning. At centre, Mrs. Frank Hallmeyer shows a seemly calf (and button boot) on the running board of a 1915 "lizzie," and pretty

... HERE AND THERE ... With NORMAN CRIBBENS

A Saanich schoolteacher phoned me about the current dispute over dietary experiments on rats now being conducted in our schools.

She says her students learned a valuable lesson from one of these experiments, which showed that whereas the over-fed rats became fat and lazy the under-fed rodents grew sharp, agile and clever.

They learned, not only to open the doors of their own cages, but how to get into the cages of the fat rats and share their superior provisions.

And the fat rats, it seems, were too lazy to stop them.

A reader assures me that Dugald Donaghy, whose 1913 car licence plate was found in a Victoria garden this week, is still very much alive.

Now in the 80s, he is a Queen's Counsel of many years standing and continues to practice law in Vancouver.

Do you tie your own bow tie?

If you don't you're a "boulder" in the opinion of how-tied J. Edward Scarfe, who originated in Clarendon (pronounced "Cister"), lives in Vancouver but prefers Victoria.

"My father taught me to tie a bow tie," he recalls. "He would have killed me if I'd worn a clip-on or a tie-on."

Frightfully bad form, what!

Victorians had to be versatile in the old days.

Harry Crowther of 2607 Douglas showed me a city directory of 1887 in which Charles Hayward was listed as undertaker, pipefitter, builder — and proprietor of the Pioneer Steam Sawmill and Sash Factory.

Newest phenomena from Ottawa — a press release stating that Ireland's Ambassador to Canada, Hon. William P. Fay, will visit Vancouver June 30 and continue by train to Victoria.

That will be quite an achievement.

Brass 'n Bows Win Hearts Of Spectators

By AB KENT

For sheer brass—and polish—the antique car buff is hard to beat.

And for sheer fun, put 88 of them and their glittering masterpieces in a sunny June parade, proving that everyone from pensioners to school children has a spot in his heart for the "tin lizzie."

Object of all the attention this morning was a delegation from the annual convention in Seattle of the Horseless Carriage Club of America, spending two days here.

They paraded their spotless, pre-1916 autos through the city, along the waterfront and through Saanich to Butchart Gardens, drawing fond looks, laughs and school kids' cheers all the way.

POPULAR VISITORS

"Is this ever fun," and "They're sure a nice bunch of people," were typical remarks from the throng that gathered at Empress Hotel before parade time.

Keen-eyed oldsters remembered days when the cars were new, young men marvelled at the perfect condition of the cars, thoroughly restored by paint, mechanical work and hundreds of hours of tinkering.

Women seemed just as intrigued, and for them a fashion note was an added flourish—the fashions of the First World War, worn both by the owners, their wives, and in some cases, their families.

TOW TRUCKS, TOO

Most of the northern U.S. was represented in the entourage, carrying with it a radio-telephone-equipped field car from the American Automobile Association, two heavy duty wreckers with mobile repair facilities, and a truck chassis-mounted San Francisco cable car.

From the way the autos behaved today, none needed emergency attention, or even a push to get them speeding along the pavement—even up the steep hill from Crescent Road to King George Terrace en route through Oak Bay.

CRANKED FOR FUN

Nostalgia was heavy for some. A Victorian watched Frank Hallmeyer of Olympia, Wash., cranking his 1915 Ford.

"Can I wind it up for you?" he asked a little wistfully, and with a couple of pulls got the trembling auto purring like a pussy.

"I can't remember the last time I did that," he said, and departed fulfilled.

Hallmeyer said he worked on the Ford six months to get it ready for the tour.

ANNIVERSARY ON ROAD

He brought his wife along and they spent their 36th wedding anniversary on the road Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lobbe, regt. Issaquah, Wash., drove the only known operating 1912 Abbot touring car, one of 15 owned and restored by them.

But the king of the tour was millionaire Reno gambling proprietor Bill Harrah, with eight cars on the road. At home had another 422 of them at last count, keeping a staff of 33 men busy restoring and tuning.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Sussexvale, St. Theresa, Stettin, Antigonish, Beacon Hill, New Glasgow and Jonquiere return Friday at 10 p.m. Assiniboine, Skeena, Margaree return July 13, 11 a.m.

Lithographers' Seven-Man Vote Threatens Plant

Seven members of the Lithographers' Union will vote on strike action Friday which could result in a shutdown for one of Victoria's commercial printing plants.

The men are employed by Colonist Lithographers Ltd., and last week they rejected a majority conciliation board award of five cents an hour wage increase.

The lithographers were expelled recently from the Canadian Labor Congress for raiding tactics.

A conciliation award would have brought their wages to $2.86 an hour until May 1, 1962.

In Vancouver—the parent local for other units in the province—the rate now is $2.91 and will be $3 an hour Nov. 1.

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, JUNE 29, 1961—PAGE 17

Holiday Crowds Get 'All Clear'

Weather mixture felt in Victoria for the last few days may be the forerunner of a pleasant weekend, according to weatherman William Mackie.

"We expect this mixture of sun and cloud to continue into Friday, and another weather system in sight may give us rain Friday night and early Saturday," he said. "Starting Saturday morning, we expect an improving trend which may continue through Saturday and Sunday."

FIRST RAIN

Rain early this morning varied from .01 to .06 inch, depending on the location, Mr. Mackie said. It was the first rain since June 10, with the exception of a trace early Wednesday morning.

"There is the strong possibility of rain or showers to night too," he said.

VACATION SERVICE

Meanwhile, thousands of vacationers are getting ready to take off, and will find travel facilities all ready for them.

Starting Friday, the government ferry service will begin operating at 5 a.m., and will complete the last of 10 round trips between Sidney and Tsawwassen, from each side, at 1 a.m. The schedule will be observed until Sept. 5.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines will add an extra trip to Vancouver, leaving at 10.10 daily, also starting Friday and ending Sept. 5.

The company will not change its schedule on the weekend, but will add extra buses as required.

"No one will be left behind," an official said.

Trans-Canada Air Lines will add one round trip to Seattle and Vancouver Friday.

"Because of the holiday coming on a Saturday, we are expecting only our normal weekend traffic," a company spokesman said.

CPR will continue its regular Seattle service, with a steamer leaving there every day at 8 a.m., arriving here at 11.50, then leaving here at 5 for a 9 p.m. arrival in Seattle.

Former Banker 'Jimmie' Thow Ill In Hospital

James C. Thow, 61, former manager of the main Victoria branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, was reported gravely ill at St. Joseph's Hospital today.

He was taken to hospital from his home at 1021 Gillespie Place two weeks ago.

Mr. Thow retired last August after 13 years as manager of the main Victoria branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MAYBE 'NEVER ON SUNDAY' FOR COIN-STAMP MACHINES

Victoria postal authorities are awaiting word from Ottawa on legality of stamp vending machines on Sundays.

A Supreme Court ruling this week prohibited coin-operated laundromats from opening, and legal experts believe all coin machines may be affected.

However, Victoria postmaster Al Davies said all stamp machines would have to be modified if the Sunday blue law were stretched to include them. At present there is no way to seal them.

There are 20 machines in the Victoria postal district. A Vancouver official says he has written to Ottawa asking for a ruling.

"We're just going to sit tight and wait for word from headquarters," said Mr. Davies.

Union Threatens Legal Action

Threat of legal action for unfair labor practice was made today by an international representative of store clerks dealing with F. W. Woolworth Ltd. employees.

Philip Cave, Coquitlam, said he is trying to organize about 120 members of two Victoria stores into Retail Clerks' International Association, Local 1518.

He is also dealing with a Port Alberni situation, in which 21 union members are about to start the third week of a Woolworth strike.

The company will not negotiate with the union and threatened employees with their jobs if they struck, he said.

INTIMIDATION

"We are seriously considering laying unfair labor practice charges against Woolworth's. We feel this is gross intimidation," Cave said.

Any attempt to organize in the Victoria stores has been met with failure because the clerks are afraid for their jobs, Cave said.

He said the store told the union in Vancouver it proposed to hold a meeting of Port Alberni clerks to tell them "if they voted for strike they were closing the store and they would lose their jobs."

"I'm willing to meet with the management and staff of these two Victoria stores at any time, any place to discuss the true facts of the Port Alberni situation," Cave said today.

Juvenile's Plea Ends Police Work On Eight Thefts

Investigation started more than two months ago by city detectives culminated Wednesday in the appearance of a juvenile in family court.

The youth entered pleas of guilty to eight charges of breaking and entering and theft and was remanded in custody for a week for probation report and sentence.

Credit for the arrest, after weeks of investigation, was given to juvenile officer Walter Caldwell and identification officer B. B. Brennan.

The first of eight break-ins occurred at a laundromat April 16 and the crime wave ended June 24 when the youth entered Sandy's Auto Wrecking, 1023 View.

Total amount of loot taken from coin changers, washing and drying machines, soft drink dispensers and cigarette machines was estimated by detectives at $700.

Sunset Ceremony

Rainbow Sea Cadets will perform the last Sunset Ceremony of the summer on the lawn of the Legislative Buildings Friday at approximately 8.40 p.m.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

An RCAF request for permission to air-drop leaflets over Victoria Aug. 5 was sent to city council by its finance committee today, without recommendation.

The leaflets would publicize Air Force Day events at Comox airfield Aug. 13.

Last year council made a policy of prohibiting air drops but Ald. Curtis said he would like to see the air force supported, "but there is one unfortunate aspect to this—the police just started their anti-litter campaign yesterday."

General meeting of Victoria Horticultural Society will be held in the council chamber at City Hall, Tuesday at 7.30 p.m.

Judges at the recent summer show will discuss the merits and shortcomings of entries in their respective sections to provide guidance for exhibitors in the fall show, Sept. 15 and 16.

The annual awards ceremony of Mount Douglas High School will be held in the school gymnasium at 8 p.m. today.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. What happened to the Seven Wonders of the World?

A. Of the original seven, only the Pyramids of Egypt remain. The Temple of Diana at Ephesus was destroyed by the Goths in 262; and only fragments remain of the tomb of Mausolus at Halicarnassus. There is no trace of the Hanging Gardens of Babylon. The statue of Zeus carved by Phidias out of marble, gold and ivory was destroyed by fire. Both the Colossus of Rhodes and the Pharos Lighthouse were destroyed by earthquakes.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society will hold a picnic on Saturday at 11 a.m. in Mt. Douglas Park.

A 16-year-old boy was transferred from juvenile to city court today and entered a plea of guilty to theft of goods worth $51.60.

Michael Walter Kazakoff was remanded to July 7 for probation report and sentence after admitting he took $50 in United States currency, worth $51.60, from the home of Sidney John Rayden, 216 Vancouver, June 23.

Police said he gained admittance by saying he had an injured ankle and, after being given treatment there left in a taxi.

Mr. Rayden then discovered the money missing from his daughter's bag.

The youth left the Island by government ferry but was arrested by RCMP as he stepped ashore at Tsawwassen on the mainland.

A dinner meeting of the Victoria Hotel Association at the Dominion Hotel Tuesday was highlighted by a talk given by William Dow, Victoria Centennial Celebrations Committee director.

Mr. Dow gave the hotelmen and their wives a preview of events for Victoria's centennial year, 1962.

City finance committee today recommended a second try this year to obtain Union of B.C. Municipalities' approval for putting a deadline on civic unions negotiating wage agreements with municipalities.

City finance committee today confirmed a suggested $15,000 asking price for two lots behind the Cook Street health and welfare centre which has been proposed as a joint Greater Victoria juvenile detention home site by inter-municipal committee.

Permission to hold a tag day was denied the women's auxiliary to the Fraternal Order of Eagles by the city today because it missed the deadline for such requests earlier this year.

Concurrent sentences of two years less a day in prison for each of 14 charges of theft were given John W. McLeod, 1203 Blanshard, in city police court today.

Policemen said the total amount of money taken from B.C. Venture Products Ltd., 359 Devonshire, where he worked, was $1,871. Dates of the offences ranged from Dec. 4, 1960, to May 11 of this year.

McLeod has entered pleas of guilty to all 14 charges Tuesday.

An official verdict of death by drowning was handed down by Victoria city coroner Dr. J. H. Moore after an autopsy last week on an Esquimalt sailor.

The Navy said Leading Seaman Ralph Collins, 2036 Wellesley, was skin diving in South Pender Island waters June 20 when he was seen to be in trouble.

Efforts to revive him aboard his ship, HMCS Sussexvale, en route to Sidney were unsuccessful.

A talk by A. Gorse, "Is Prophecy Being Fulfilled Today?" will be sponsored by the Victoria Branch of the British Israel World Federation (Canada) on Monday at 8 p.m. in the Newstead Hall.

SCOTTISH AWARD FOR ROSS

Ex-Lieutenant-Governor Off to Receive Degree

Ex-Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Frank Ross will leave Vancouver next Tuesday for Aberdeen where Mr. Ross will be given an LL.D degree by the University of Aberdeen.

A native of Aberdeen, Mr. Ross migrated to Canada 51 years ago. He retired from the office of Lieutenant-governor last October after five years' service.

On July 13 Mr. and Mrs. Ross will return to Antigonish, Nova Scotia, for celebrations marking the 170th anniversary of the landing of Scotsmen from the Western Isles.

On that day Saint Francis Xavier University will confer doctor of laws degrees on Mr. Ross, Sir Compton Mackenzie and Sister Saint Veronica, sister of the late Hon. Angus MacDonald.

Mr. Ross will speak on the imprint that Scottish immigration has made on Canada.

TCA Faces New Threat of Strike

MONTREAL (UPI) — Contract negotiations between the Canadian Airlines Flight Attendants Association and Trans-Canada Air Lines broke down today as the nation moved a step closer to a country-wide air strike.

Forest Fire 'Crisis' In Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — Lands and Forest Minister Spooner said today a crisis exists in the forest fire situation in northwestern Ontario.

He said the existing conditions — tinder-dry forests, no rain and high winds — has created a dangerous situation and would affect forest travel.

Lawyer Arrested In Basketball Bribe

NEW YORK (AP) — New York city's district attorney, Frank Hogan, announced today the arrest of Charles Tucker, a 25-year-old lawyer, as a basketball fixer. Tucker, a former college basketball player at Kalamazoo, Mich. College in 1955 and 1956, was booked on charges of conspiracy and bribery.

Three Die In Winnipeg House Fire

WINNIPEG (CP) — Two children and their 22-year-old sister were burned to death as fire swept through a two-storey frame house in North End Winnipeg at dawn today.

The victims are Clara Willison, 22, her sister Doris 8, and brother Douglas 7.

Three Canadians Die In Idaho Crash

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho (AP) — A Greyhound bus and a new convertible slammed together on a rain-slicked curve six miles north of here today, fatally injuring all three Canadians in the car.

Killed outright in the smash on U.S. Highway 95 were Herbert Martens, 48, and Peter P. Neufeldt, about 55. Walter Sawalsky, who lost his leg in the collision, died later in a Bonners Ferry hospital. All were from Yarrow, a suburb of Chilliwack.

Finnish Premier Quits In Scandal

HELSINKI, Finland (Reuters) — Premier Vieno Sukselainen tendered his resignation tonight, the Finnish news agency reported.

Sukselainen was found guilty Wednesday of administrative irregularities in his capacity as director-general of the board of the Finnish state pensions institution.

Plot Against Turkey Uncovered

ISTANBUL, Turkey (Reuters) — A plot against the Turkish regime has been uncovered, it was announced tonight.

An official communiqué said counter-revolutionaries had planned a "new bloody move" during a referendum on the new constitution.

Disarmament Agency Set Up by Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today proposed the establishment of a permanent U.S. disarmament agency. It would have sweeping powers to draw up disarmament plans, negotiate and handle enforcement if any international arms control agreement is reached.

Kennedy sent his proposal to Congress in the form of a bill to set up a "United States Disarmament Agency for world peace and security."

Esquimalt Home Damaged By Fire

The home of Lt.-Cmdr. Roy Smith, 1194 Old Esquimalt Road, was severely damaged by fire late this afternoon. The fire started between the walls and burned into the attic.

Damage was estimated at $2,500.

The house was not occupied at the time. Lt.-Cmdr. Smith is believed to be on holiday at Shawinigan Lake.

Esquimalt firemen were summoned by a neighbor.

Freedom Ride Finished; Audain Due Home Today

Freedom rider Michael Audain, of Victoria, jailed in Mississippi early this month on charges of breach of peace, is scheduled to arrive at Patricia Bay Airport at 5:30 p.m. today aboard a TCA Viscount from Seattle.

He was released from the state penitentiary at Parchman Wednesday after posting a cash bond.

Audain was arrested in Jackson, Miss., June 7; fined $200, and sentenced to four months' jail with two of the four months suspended.

The 23-year-old UBC student was quoted as saying that he posted bond mainly because of "pressure from my parents."

His father, James Audain, 333 King George Terrace, told The Times today he did not exert any pressure on his son.

Mr. Audain said he "practically turned the place upside down" to get Michael out after he was contacted by John Gager, another freedom rider, and the penitentiary superintendent.

Gager, who had also been jailed at Parchman, telephoned from New Haven, Conn., and "begged me to see that bond was put up to get Michael released," Mr. Audain said.

Grave Situation PM Tells House

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker told the Commons today that drought conditions on the Prairies now are approaching the conditions of the mid-1930s.

"The problems" that the Western farmer now faces is one of those that exercise the hearts of men," he said.

Mr. Diefenbaker was asked by Jack McIntosh (PC—Swift Current, Maple Creek) to report on crop conditions following his visit Wednesday to Saskatchewan and a refuelling stop at Winnipeg during which he conferred with local authorities.

"Generally speaking, the situation is one of grave seriousness," he said. "Every endeavor will be made to meet the situation."

He recalled that the federal government has agreed to pay half the cost of moving fodder into the Prairies and of moving cattle to summer pasturage outside the drought area.

But even this will not be enough, he added. Cattle will have to be sold.

REGINA (CP) — The weather office said at noon today thunderstorms over southeastern and southern Saskatchewan may give the area a quarter-inch rainfall. The area is the hardest hit by the present drought.

East-West Compromise
Over Laos

GENEVA (UPI) — East and West moved toward compromise today on sending some equipment to the International Control Commission (ICC) for policing the shaky cease-fire in Laos.

British and Soviet co-chairmen of the 14-nation Laos peace conference met with representatives of the three-member ICC.

A British delegation spokesman said afterward the two-hour meeting found "sufficient common ground." But no final agreement was worked out on how many helicopters, light aircraft and ground transport vehicles would be supplied.

Radio Baghdad hoisted a trial balloon in the Middle East storm by declaring the Iraqi people are cabling congratulations to Kasseem on the move to "liberate Kuwait" and urging him to "save all the other rings in the chain of the Persian Gulf territories and return them to the Iraqi motherland."

These include Qatif and Ahassa, concession areas of the U.S.-owned Arabian-American Oil Company, and the British-protected sheikdoms of Qatar, Bahrain and Abu Dhabi.

Greater Victoria district's summer timetable calls for:

July 7 — Registration for summer classes at Oak Bay Junior High;

July 10 — Summer classes begin;

Aug. 4 — Summer classes end;

Aug. 21 — Supplemental examinations by the department of education begin.

RN Moves To Protect Kuwait

TEHRAN, Iran (Reuters) — British warships were reported heading for Kuwait today amid clashes in the oil-rich sheikdom and the adjoining Persian Gulf.

Reports from Kuwait said two British frigates are expected to arrive Friday to guard the oil refinery at Ahmadi after an abortive plot by Iraqis to sabotage it.

The British aircraft carrier HMS Bulwark was steaming toward the Persian Gulf with 600 Royal Marine commandos. Three other warships are on the move in the Far East.

The reports said Saudi Arabian troops arrived in Kuwait today and are patrolling the border with Iraq. More troops are expected to arrive from Jordan.

Meanwhile, Iraqi patrol boats were reported to have fired on Iranian motor launches taking food to Kuwait.

Other reports received in Tehran said a number of persons were severely injured when Kuwait and Iraqi merchants clashed in the market place in Kuwait's capital Wednesday.

TROOPS ON BORDER

The authoritative Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram reported today that Iraqi forces moved Wednesday to the borders of Kuwait, to which Iraqi Prime Minister Abdul Karim Kassam laid claim Sunday.

Quoting United Arab Republic official circles, the newspaper said two Iraqi brigades, fully armed and equipped, moved to the border of the oil-rich Persian Gulf sheikdom.

Iraq hinted Wednesday at an expansion of Premier Kassam's bid for annexation of Kuwait to all the oil-bearing regions on the Persian Gulf's west coast.

School Out: 27,000 'At Liberty'

School's out today for more than 27,000 pupils in southern Vancouver Island and it will never be the same again for them.

Instruction formally ended at 3 p.m.

When it resumes Sept. 5, the youngsters will be going back to longer hours and more days in a tougher system.

Next school year will be two days longer and the teaching day will be 15 minutes longer.

Other changes that will be introduced gradually as a result of the Chant Commission on Education will see basic courses enriched, new text books and a new emphasis on intellectual development of the students.

Meantime, the pupils will enjoy their summer vacation except for most mothers and some students who will be going to summer school.

Greater Victoria district's summer timetable calls for:

July 7 — Registration for summer classes at Oak Bay Junior High;

Glenn Expected To Take Flight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said today it tentatively plans to launch another astronaut on a downrange suborbital flight from Cape Canaveral the week of July 16.

This will be the second in the series — started May 5 with Alan Shepard's successful ride — leading up to an orbital flight later this year or early next year.

The name of the astronaut for the next project mercury ride has not yet been released. It is expected to be Marine Col. John Glenn, Shepard's "backup" on the May 5 flight.

Spectacular Triple Play

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States has hurled its first atomic battery into space as part of a spectacular aerial triple play in which one rocket placed three satellites in orbit around the earth.

The Russians never have announced using a nuclear device in their satellites. Without Russian word, today's success would appear to give American scientists a significant lead over Russia in the race to harness atomic power for space exploration.

A Thor-Able-Star rocket blasted off from Cape Canaveral late Wednesday night with the satellites stacked in its nose as a three-scoop ice-cream cone.

Both stages of the 50-ton rocket clicked with drill-like precision and flung the entire package into orbit. Almost immediately, spring devices kicked the payloads apart and they continued to circle the globe on separate paths nearly 600 miles above the earth.

Officials reported early today that the atomic battery was functioning and that clear signals were being transmitted by all three packages.

This was the first time the triple payload technique was attempted. It raised to 43 the number of U.S. satellites placed in orbit since the first went aloft 41 months ago. Another Thor-Able-Star pushed two satellites up a year ago.

To Provide All-Weather Navigation

The four and one-half-pound nuclear unit was attached to the base of the largest satellite. This is transit 4-A, 175-pounds, the first of a series of the navy's satellite system designed to provide ships, planes and submarines with accurate, all-weather navigation.

The other satellites were: A 55-pound sphere nicknamed Greb which carried two detectors to measure X-ray radiation from the sun. The naval research laboratory said it is studying the effect of solar radiation in the ionosphere, a series of electrically-charged layers in space which bounce radio signals back to earth and thus are important to communications.

Injun, a 40-pound drum-shaped parcel to measure intense radiation in the Van Allen radiation belts and to report on auroral phenomena such as the Northern Lights. The instruments were devised by Dr. James Van Allen of the University of Iowa whose gauges on early U.S. satellites discovered the great bands of radiation.

But the starring role went to the grapefruit-sized atomic unit whose hot core contained a small amount of plutonium-238, a radio-isotope which generated heat up to 1,000 degrees. Thermo-electric rods converted the heat to electrical energy which sent 2.5 watts of power to two of four radio transmitters and some instruments in Transit 4-A.

Once perfected, these atomic batteries will provide satellites with unlimited power supply and permit communication with vehicles fired deep into the universe.

Bomb Breaks Farmer Truce

PARIS (Reuters) — A bomb badly damaged the home of Agricultural Minister Henri Rochereau today despite a truce declared by farm leaders preparatory to talks with Premier Michel Debre aimed at ending the three-week long "peasants' revolt."

The explosion, outside the house, came as farm leaders and government officials, including Debre and Rochereau, prepared for their meeting today.

ABE CENSORED BY RIVAL AUTO FIRM

NEW YORK (AP) — A television producer says the name of Abraham Lincoln was deleted from a TV drama because Lincoln also is the name of an automobile made by a competitor of the program's sponsor.

The producer, Ralph Nelson, testified Wednesday at a Federal Communications Commission hearing to determine if government control of TV programming is needed.

Nelson testified that the deletion of Lincoln's name occurred when he was producing a dramatization of The Andersonville Trial for the Climax series over the Columbia Broadcasting System network.

When the telecast first was proposed, Nelson said, an executive for the advertising company, representing Chrysler, told him the sponsor was "very fearful of the program going through."

"We were asked never to refer to the president of the United States' name," Nelson said, "since it was the name of a rival car—so we did not."
